NOW DESIRE A FRANCHISE

Ordinances That Weaver Forced Repeal on, Asked For by His Friends.

BEST STREETS IN IT

Think It a Scheme to Give Reform Mayor a Chance For a Gallery Play.

PHILADELPHIANS ARE PUZZLED

A sensation was produced late this afternoon in councils by the presentation of an ordinance, behind which is the Weaver-Wanamaker interests, asking for a trolley franchise over all of the principal streets in aristocratic Germantown. The streets asked for are those incorporated in the recent franchise given to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, the enabling ordinances of which were vetoed by Mayor Weaver and repealed by councils owing to the gas lease fight and the protests of the people of Germantown.

No development since Mayor Weaver parted with the Republican organization has caused so much talk as the renewed effort of today. The franchises are asked by the Germantown and Chestnut Hill Belt Line Street Railway Company. The incorporators are supposed to be dummies and the men behind them are, it is stated, without contradiction, Fred Van Valkenburg, Frank G. Edwards and Attorney Harry Mackey.

Van Valkenburg is a brother of E. A. Van Valkenburg, editor and president of the North American; Capt. Edwards was an insurgent member of the legislature of 1899, and is closely identified politically with the Wanamaker interests. Attorney Harry Mackey was special counsel for John Wanamaker during the Quay senatorial deadlock, and was defeated when he ran for the state senate by the late Senator John Harrison.

To Gridiron Three Wards.

For weeks Capt. Edwards and Attorney Mackey have been almost daily visitors at the office of Mayor Weaver. Occasionally they were accompanied by Van Valkenburg. The ordinances introduced today are supposed to have been discussed and approved by the mayor, although that official tonight refused, when telephoned at Sea Isle City, to discuss them. Capt. Edwards, who is at Cape May, also declined to discuss the matter, refusing point blank to say that he was not interested in the project. With former Senator William Flinn and Peter Shields, Capt. Edwards is interested in the Cape May Improvement Company.

Three wards, the Twenty-second, Twenty-first and Thirty-eighth, are to be gridironed by the proposed franchises. The city is also compelled to expend $250,000 for a bridge over the Wissahickon creek. In the way of revenue the city is to receive 1 per cent of the gross receipts and at the end of 30 years the lines are to be sold to the highest bidder, the promoters reserving the right to bid in their own property.

Move Is a Mystery.

The real swell thoroughfares asked for are Chestnut Hill, Mt. Airy, Stenton avenue and Walnut and School lanes. There is to be one main belt line and 10 branch lines, the route covering (as estimated) 150 miles, the same territory objected to by Mayor Weaver when it was asked by the local trolley company.

No one seems to know just what is behind the movement. As a political move it is regarded as fatal by the supporters of the Weaver-Wanamaker syndicate, still people attribute to the combination too much sense to commit harikari with so little promise of substantial results. Some think the proposition is framed up for the purpose of giving Mayor Weaver a chance to make another grandstand play by vetoing a bill fathered by his political associates, but this theory is ridiculous.

The most sane deduction is that the "reformers" realize that they cannot secure political control and are trying to recoup a few financial investments, but as Weaver does not control councils, even this explanation does not explain.

GIRL REFUSES MARRIAGE: IS KILLED BY LOVER

Julia Kolcum Slain at Brother's Home in Donora—Posse Is Searching for Murderer.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHARLEROI, PA., Aug. 3.—Because she refused to marry him, Julia Kolcum of Charleroi was murdered in cold blood at Donora this morning by Minto Seyegar. The girl was visiting her brother, John Kolcum, who lives in Fifth street, and while there Minto became infatuated with her.

This morning he asked her to marry him and when she refused he pulled a revolver and shot three times, each one taking effect and killing the girl instantly. She was about 20 years old.

Seyegar escaped and search is being made for him. Chief of Police Snow of Charleroi and a posse of 10 deputies went out this afternoon to apprehend the murderer in case he came this way.

FATE PURSUES KELLY.

He Accidentally Shoots Friend, Slightly Wounding Him—Thrown From Buggy and Hurt Worse Himself.

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—A revolver held by Patrick Kelley was accidentally discharged in James H. Gantz's barber shop this evening and the bullet passed through one of Gantz's thighs and lodged in the other.

While Gantz was being taken to the hospital Kelley got into a buggy belonging to a friend and started to drive home. The horse ran off and threw Kelley out, breaking his shoulder blade and one leg. Kelley is the worst injured of the two.

SHERIFFS TO HELP

CASES TO DATE NUMBER 432

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—The yellow fever situation here up to 6 o'clock tonight was as follows:

In New Orleans—Total cases, 432; deaths today, 5; total deaths to date, 84; new cases, 54; new foci, 12; total foci, 66.

Shreveport, La.—One convalescent.

Montgomery, Ala.—One convalescent.

Lumberton, Miss.—One convalescent.

Summerall, Miss.—One case.

Although today's record showed an increase in the number of new cases and a considerable spread of centers of infection, the number of deaths decreased today, and the situation was regarded by the health officers as hopeful. The authorities have not concealed their expectation that for some days to come there would be a daily average of 20 to 25 cases and a proportionate number of deaths, owing to the extent of the main infected territory. Anything less than these figures will be regarded as distinct assurance the situation is still under control.

Naval Brigade Under Arms.

Though the announcement that Gov. Blanchard had actually ordered the Naval brigade under arms and had dispatched the mosquito fleet of the oyster commission to the Louisiana-Mississippi boundary attracted attention, there is absolutely no apprehension that any serious collision will occur. Gov. Blanchard today telegraphed to the sheriffs and district attorneys of St. Bernard and Orleans parishes to invoke the assistance of the civil authorities to clear Louisiana waters of any armed invaders. To the sheriffs he sent this telegram:

"You will take steps immediately to capture and arrest all armed vessels and those aboard found within that part of Lake Borgne situated in your parishes, so that the grand jury may act. Consult the district attorney and call upon Commander Bostick of the Naval militia for assistance to effect capture. Go with Bostick expedition through the lake."

Capture a Vessel.

As a result of an investigation made by the Naval brigade, Gov. Blanchard has issued orders to Capt. Bostick tonight to see that navigation in Louisiana waters is not interfered with. Wulverine II., a schooner, under command of Lieut. Armstrong is looking after Louisiana interests in the Rigolets. It is stated that a big launch, the Grace, has been taken in charge by the Louisiana authorities and that the boat and crew will be sent at once to New Orleans. No serious trouble is anticipated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Secretary Shaw has notified Gov. Blanchard of Louisiana that if any unauthorized acts and abuses of discretion have been committed by the revenue cutter Winona, now assisting the public health and marine hospital service in the campaign against yellow fever, they will be corrected as far as possible. This declaration of the secretary followed the receipt of several dispatches from Gov. Blanchard complaining of the action of the cutter in interfering with fishing vessels belonging to the people of Louisiana, and specifically referring to a case where it is asserted a boat was captured and towed away.

Secretary Shaw also has asked for a detailed report of all the operations of the public health and marine hospital

SURGEON GEN. WALTER WYMAN.

He will investigate the sanitary conditions in the yellow fever ridden district.

TWO PASSENGERS FATALLY INJURED

TEN LESS SERIOUSLY HURT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, Aug. 3.—A broken rail caused a disastrous wreck on the Somerset and Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad 10 miles from Johnstown at 9 o'clock this morning. Two persons, it is thought, are fatally injured, and at least 10 others are badly cut and bruised.

The injured:

MISS MABEL BEACHLEY, Somerset; skull fractured and other severe injuries; will die.

MISS EMMA VICKROY, Windber; face badly crushed; injuries may prove fatal.

MRS. GEORGE W. BERKEBILE, Kantner.

MRS. FRANK FRYBURG, Hooversville.

MRS. GWYNN ROGERS, Pittsburgh; cut and bruised.

MRS. EFFIE BERKEBILE, Buffalo, N. Y.

AGNES HOFFMAN, Holsopple, Pa.; cut and bruised.

R. M. PYEATTE, Knoxville, Pa.; right hand crushed and injured about the head.

S. L. DOERR, Meyersdale; badly bruised.

MRS. WARGO, Wells Creek; badly bruised.

The train is due in Johnstown from Meyersdale at 9 o'clock. It was in charge of Conductor Harry Benford and Engineer Daniel Quinn, both of Meyersdale. There were 40 passengers aboard.

The train was late, and had just crossed a bridge over the Stoney Creek, near Kauffman's Run, 10 miles from here, when a broken rail was encountered. The drawhead pulled from the coach next the tender on the engine, and the baggage coach and two passenger coaches went hurling over a 20-foot embankment into the river. The engine and tender were left standing on the tracks.

As soon as the wreck became known here a special train bearing a corps of physicians and three nurses from the Memorial hospital was dispatched to the scene. Although only 10 of the injured were removed to the hospital, there were many more who received severe injuries, among them being Conductor Harry Benford, who is thought to have sustained a broken clavicle besides being severely cut and bruised. Despite his injuries, he worked with the rest endeavoring to rescue the helpless.

Two ties removed from the tracks by workmen are thought to have been responsible for the broken rail.

Pittsburgh Girl Among Injured.

Miss Gula Rogers of 223 Emerson street, East End, was a passenger on the Baltimore & Ohio train wrecked near Johnstown yesterday morning. No message has been received from her by her parents. It is reported she is slightly bruised. She is expected to arrive in town early this morning.

SUSPECTED OF BLACKMAIL CRISWELL TAKES HIS LIFE

New York Society Editor, Charged With Criminal Libel on Friends of Miss Alice Roosevelt and Being in New York Society Holdup Kills Himself.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Robert W. Criswell, editor of the New Yorker, a weekly journal, who was recently held for the grand jury on a charge of criminal libel in which the names of friends of Miss Alice Roosevelt figured prominently, and whose connection with the Social Editors' society is now under investigation, found death tonight by throwing himself under the wheels of a subway express train leaving the Seventy-second street station.

Just as the train was pulling out of the station, a man evidently under stress of great excitement ran down the steps from the street, and, running the length of the platform, leaped in front of the cars, which had attained considerable speed. When the train was stopped the body had been cut to pieces.

Criswell was arrested recently on a charge of criminal libel, preferred against him by Representative Joseph L. Rhinock of Kentucky. In his weekly publication, the New Yorker, Criswell had printed an article about the recent visit of Miss Alice Roosevelt, the president's daughter, to Cincinnati, and there he told of the various persons who were introduced to her on the race track, and among them Mr. Rhinock, who, the article said, once had been indicted for stealing money from a man on the race track. Criswell was placed under bail and was held for trial in special sessions court.

Then, when the Society Editors' association, with its books, "America's Smart Set," and the connection of some of its officials with Town Topics became known it was also learned that Criswell had a connection with a similar organization, known as the Social Editors' society. It was said by many persons who were called to the office of the district attorney that they had paid money to the Social Editors' society for a book to be called "America's Foremost Families."

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 3.—Robert W. Criswell came to Cincinnati in 1881 from Oil City, Pa., where he was connected with the Oil City Derrick and conducted a "funny column" over the non de plume "Father Lickshingle." He took up a similar line of work with a Cincinnati paper and afterwards became the managing editor of the paper. He remained here about 18 months.

THEY INVITE REFUGEES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aug. 3.—By official action of the city board of health, Knoxville has declared itself open to the world and invited all fever refugees, whether suspects or not, to come within its gates.

It has been proved in years gone by that yellow fever cannot propagate in this altitude, and should any fever cases develop among those who come in the health board has made arrangements to promptly isolate them.

MENA, ARK., Aug. 3.—The city council not only refused to quarantine against yellow fever points, but invited refugees from infected places to come to Mena, which is in the Ozark mountains, 1,350 feet above sea level, where the yellow fever germ cannot exist, doctors say.

PROMINENT CITIZEN HELD ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEARFIELD, PA., Aug. 3.—John G. Platt, who for many years was the secretary and treasurer of the Platt-Barber Company, one of the largest wholesale grocery houses of the state, has been arrested on the charge of embezzlement and falsification of accounts. The information was made by the present secretary, R. H. Zerby, and sets forth items aggregating over $100,000.

Since the retirement of Mr. Platt last December expert accountants have been at work on the books and the arrest is the result of their report. Mr. Platt entered bail for his appearance at the August term of quarter sessions court at Bellefonte.

John G. Platt has for many years been one of the foremost citizens of Centre county, and besides his connection with the Platt-Barber Company, was largely interested in coal operations and other business enterprises. He also took a prominent part in the politics of this senatorial and congressional district.

FRAUD CHARGE IS MADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENVILLE, PA., Aug. 3.—Ballot box stuffing is one of the sensational charges made in a protest filed by 22 members with the Mercer Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church concerning the methods used in calling the Rev. W. H. McPeak to the pastorate of the Second United Presbyterian church of Mercer.

Two factions are said to exist in the church. Several weeks ago a congregational meeting was held at which a call was extended to the Rev. W. H. McPeak of Port Huron, Mich. After the ballot was taken it was discovered there were 98 in the hat, and there were but 92 persons present, and six of them not entitled to vote.

The congregation of the Second church numbers among its members the aristocracy of Mercer and has had for pastors several men now filling Pittsburgh pulpits.

A meeting of the presbytery was held at New Wilmington when the call to the Rev. Mr. McPeak was presented by Dr. R. M. Hope. After the call had been presented J. W. Allison and A. B. Thompson presented the protest against the call. Although the call was sustained on a technicality by a bare majority, the matter has not been settled. The congregation has been without a pastor since the Rev. Mr. McKelvey went to Pittsburgh two years ago.

CHASED BY MILLIONAIRE.

Circus Performer Falls in Faint When She Meets Man Who Says He Loves Her.

CALDWELL, O., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Seeing a persistent suitor who had followed her over the country begging her to marry him, Miss Maud Franks, a performer in a circus now in this town, fell into a faint on the street today, and for a time it was feared she would die. Tonight a physician pronounced her out of danger.

James Arbuckles, claiming to be a millionaire from Montpelier, Vt., had fallen in love with Miss Franks and followed her all this season. Several days ago, it is said, Arbuckles met Miss Franks on the street and deliberately kissed her in public.

Friday, August 4—Visit and formal presentation to President Roosevelt of M. Serglus Witte, Russian envoy, accompanied by Baron De Rosen.

Saturday, August 5—Reception of the peace envoys of Russia and Japan by President Roosevelt on board the yacht Mayflower. Introductions and luncheon.

Sunday, August 6—Voyage by sea to Portsmouth, N. H., of the plenipotentiaries, the Russians on the Mayflower, the Japanese on the Dolphin.

Monday, August 7—Reception and luncheon at Portsmouth navy yard by Rear Admiral Mead. Reception of the governor of New Hampshire and National Guard escort to the Hotel Wentworth, Portsmouth, N. H.

Tuesday, August 8—Probably first meeting of the plenipotentiaries for exchange of credentials.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Acting for the president, Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce today communicated to Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, and Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, the official program for the formal presentation to the president of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries to the Washington conference. This program has for weeks been a subject of much study on the part of the president and Mr. Peirce.

As the president's representative Mr. Peirce will accompany Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira and their suite to the pier of the New York Yacht club at East Twenty-third street, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, where the delegation will board the protected cruiser Tacoma, Commander Reginald Nicholson commanding, and the vessel will start for Oyster Bay, steaming at a moderate speed.

Half an hour later Mr. Peirce will perform a similar ceremony for M. Witte and Baron Rosen, the Russian plenipotentiaries, and their suite, who will go aboard the protected cruiser Chattanooga, Commander Alex Sharp commanding. Mr. Peirce will then board the converted yacht Sylph, which, steaming rapidly ahead, will pass the Tacoma and Chattanooga, taking position at the front of the column.

Salutes at Oyster Bay.

Arriving at Oyster Bay about noon, the "peace squadron" will anchor, its arrival being loudly heralded by the firing of an ambassadorial salute of 21 guns for each mission from the Galveston, Mayflower and Dolphin, which will be in waiting to convey the plenipotentiaries to Portsmouth. Mr. Peirce, on leaving the Sylph, will board the Mayflower and will await the arrival of the president. The president will board the Mayflower about 1 o'clock. He will be given the presidential salute of 21 guns from all the vessels in the harbor, and as soon as his flag is hoisted on the Mayflower the Japanese plenipotentiaries will come on board from the Chattanooga and be presented by Assistant Secretary Peirce.

Half an hour later the Russian envoys will come aboard and be presented. Immediately the president will formally present the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries to each other. A buffet luncheon in the cabin of the Mayflower will follow. At its conclusion the Japanese mission will take leave of the president and board the Dolphin. Mr. Peirce will go aboard the cruiser Galveston, the president will then take leave of the Russian mission and go ashore, again receiving a salute of 21 guns.

Under convoy of the cruiser Galveston, Commander Cutler, with Mr. Peirce aboard, the Russians on the Mayflower and the Japanese on the Dolphin will sail for Portsmouth. The squadron will steam slowly, so as not to arrive there before 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Desirous of being strictly neutral in all the arrangements for the presentation, it was decided at the outset by the Washington government that the president would recognize no precedence based on successes in the present war. Because Baron Komura was presented at Sagamore Hill almost a week before M. Witte arrived in this country, it was decided that for this reason Baron Komura must take precedence over M. Witte. This, however, will be recognized only in the half hour's difference in the time of the presentation for the two missions.

M. Witte Has Full Powers.

The question as to which ship should be assigned to the Russians and which to the Japanese to take them to Portsmouth solved itself. The servants on the Dolphin are Japanese; those on the Mayflower are Chinese.

All questions as to whether M. Witte comes to this country as a fully empowered representative of the czar—as, in fact, a peace plenipotentiary—or in a capacity so restricted as to limit his functions to the discovery of what are the Japanese terms of peace, was definitely settled today by M. Kurostovera, one of the highest officials connected with the Russian foreign office, who said officially this afternoon that M. Witte came here clothed with full power not only to learn and discuss terms of peace, but to agree with the Japanese plenipotentiaries on a final basis of peace, his decision to be final and binding on the czar.

It was announced this afternoon by a member of M. Witte's suite that the Russians, following the customs of the Muscovite, will begin work in connection with the peace conference with prayer. Early tomorrow M. Witte will proceed with the distinguished members of his party to the

Sightseeing in New York.

M. Witte had an active day today. He has already seen more of New York than most visitors see in a week. Accompanied by Mr. Wilenkine, Russia's financial agent at Washington, M. Witte left his hotel at 9 o'clock in an automobile on a ride through Central park, then to Grant's tomb, where M. Witte insisted on getting out of the car and went into the mausoleum to stand for a few minutes at the tomb of the great general. From here he went to the stock exchange, where he spent more than an hour studying its workings and mingling freely with the crowds. From there he went to the top of one of the towering downtown buildings to get a birdseye view of the city. This quite enchanted him. "The most magnificent of all," he exclaimed. M. Witte then went into the subway and took an express train uptown.

"Now," he said, "this is all splendid, but I want to see all of New York. Let's go to the East Side."

Thither the party went and its arrival there was the signal for an ovation to M. Witte. Russians who had come here to be citizens crowded around the machine as it passed down East Broadway, blocking its progress in their frantic endeavors to obtain a good view of the great man of Russia and attempting to grasp his hand.

While at first slightly embarrassed by the unusual outburst of enthusiasm, M. Witte soon became used to the situation and appeared greatly to enjoy the attention he aroused. To those who were fortunate enough to receive a handclasp he spoke a few words of greeting, and responded to the loud cheers which greeted him on every side by bowing and taking off his hat. The trip had been anticipated by the residents in the Russian colonies and the national flag hung from scores of windows.

Studied the People.

M. Witte, who has all his life been a deep student of sociological problems, ordered the chauffeur to move at a slow pace so that he could mix with and study the people there. At Tompkins square, which was crowded, he insisted on dismounting so that he might walk among his people and thus see them at closer view. He walked slowly across the square, at the other side of which the automobile was in waiting for him and took him to Sherry's for luncheon.

Before leaving his hotel M. Witte had been told by Detective Sergeant Downing that danger might lurk in the Russian quarters and that perhaps it would be wise to confine his sightseeing tour of the city to other districts. Members of the suite were prone to heed the advice.

M. Witte, however, laughed at the serious demeanor of his friends and, slapping Baron Rosen on the back, "pooh-poohed" any idea of attack from a fanatic or crank.

"Well, I'm going," he told the others, "and if you want to stay behind I'll go alone. I want to see my people. I want to see how they live in this great country."

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—An order restraining the town of Essex from interfering with the poles and wires of the New England Telegraph Company in connection with their use during the coming peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H., was issued today by Judge Dodge of the United States circuit court. Another hearing will be held August 8, when the matter will be finally adjudicated. The company claimed that its right to maintain its wires and poles through Essex is of international importance because they form a link in the shortest telegraph and cable route between Portsmouth and Europe. The town contended it has never given the right of location to the company.

PRESIDENT HAS USUAL BUSY DAY

PARIS NEWSPAPER MAN GUEST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon today Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador; W. W. Russell, minister to Venezuela; W. J. Calhoun, special commissioner to Venezuela; Paul Dana, William Seymour Edwards, Lieutenant Commander Sims, U. S. N., and Jules Hedeman, correspondent of the Matin, Paris.

Sir Mortimer Durand had intended to escape from Sagamore Hill without being interviewed, but his automobile broke down in front of the press headquarters. The automobile defied repairs and the British ambassador was obliged to go to New York by train.

He was anxious to have it understood that his visit to the president had nothing whatever to do with the coming peace meeting. Minister Russell and Commissioner Calhoun came to make their farewell call on the president before sailing for Venezuela Saturday. Mr. Russell said he thought the president would put no obstacle in the way of a thorough investigation of the Venezuelan situation by the newly appointed commissioner.

M. Jules Hedeman, of the Paris Matin, will open tonight in New York the first regular bureau of a Paris daily newspaper ever established in this country. Mr. Roosevelt authorized the correspondent to send a congratulatory cable to his paper expressing the belief that close press relations between the two nations serve to strengthen the ties of national friendship.

In the afternoon Alvin H. Sanders, chairman of the coming reciprocity convention in Chicago, called upon the president to invoke his interest in the meeting.

Two Koreans, Syngman Rhee of Seoul and the Rev. P. K. Youin, pastor of the Korean Methodist Episcopal church at Honolulu, arrived here this evening from Washington on a mission to President Roosevelt which they did not care to discuss publicly at this time. They were unable to see the president tonight, but will remain here until tomorrow, hoping to have a talk then.

LOOKING US OVER—THE FIRST POINT OF INTEREST.

CLEAN FACE THE STAKE IN A GAME OF EUCHRE

"Boots," the Tenth's Mascot, and "Terry" Willet Engage Pike Street Attention.

That Robert McDermott, otherwise "Boots," the famous mascot of the "Fightin' Tenth" Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, has not lost the luck that won him his job with the command was proved last evening in a most unique fashion.

If "Boots" had not been lucky he would be required to pass the coming year without washing his face. His luck still staying with him, however, he had the pleasure of washing the face of the other fellow, who had not bathed his physiognomy for a year.

It all turned on a game of euchre. One year ago last evening "Boots," whose home is at Thirteenth and Pike streets, and John, or "Terry," Willet of 74 Fourteenth street, agreed on strange stakes for euchre. The loser was not to wash his face for the term of one year. Willet lost, and he claims that he kept the agreement. His mother substantiates the statement and his appearance made any doubt impossible.

Part of the deal was a return game and it was played last evening. If Willet lost he was to have his face washed in a pint of water. If "Boots" lost he was to undergo the penalty inflicted for a year on Willet.

All Pike street, not to mention Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, etc., was interested. The population to the number of 150 turned out to watch the contest. The men played under an arc light at Pike and Fourteenth, battling for a clean front.

"Boots" won, the scores being 10 and 9. The long-deferred ablution of Willet's face in a pint of water was forthwith performed with the aid of a rag and from now on the game loser can take as many face-washes as he wishes—if he has not come to like the easier plan of letting it stay dirty.

GREENSBURG GETS CONTRACT.

Westmoreland County Firm Will Build Part of Erie Railroad's Big Cut-Off.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The Erie railroad announces that it has awarded to Bennett & Talbot of Greensburg, Pa., the contract for building the first section of 12 miles of the Guymard cut-off, including a tunnel of 5,300 feet through the Shawangunk mountains.

This section, extending from Howells to Guymard, will be a double track line, exclusively for the use of freight, and will be 125 feet below the present Erie grade. This section, which calls for the expenditure of $1,500,000, approximately, is the first of the improvements to be undertaken to completely modernize the Erie's low grade line to the west. Contracts for the remaining 32 miles of the cut-off will be awarded soon.

NO TIME NOW TO TALK.

Japanese Papers Doubt the Wisdom of M. Witte's Interview Just Now.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(Special Cable.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokyo correspondent says:

The latest interviews with M. Witte have aroused considerable comment here. The Japanese press doubts the wisdom of any remarks at the present juncture.

Japanese journals declare the procedure is perfectly simple; and if Witte's credentials are not satisfactory or the terms unacceptable Japan's only alternative will be to continue military operations.

SHE DRINKS HER WHISKY STRAIGHT

So Brother-in-Law Testifies Concerning Bibulous Feats of Mrs. Taggart.

IS DROPPED FROM A CLUB

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 3.—But few people were present when the court opened this morning in the Taggart case. Most of the testimony brought out during the day was in regard to the charge of drinking made against Mrs. Taggart. The case had not proceeded far before standing room was at a premium. During the afternoon session few women were noticed in the audience.

Howard Taggart, a brother of Maj. Taggart and a clerk in the Baltimore & Ohio railroad offices at Baltimore, Md., was the first witness called. He remained on the stand until 3 o'clock, when a recess was taken. From 1893 until 1898 he resided with his brother at Fort Thomas, Ky., where Mrs. Taggart is alleged to have indulged in her drinking contest for the women's championship of the post.

"She prided herself on drinking whisky without water, and laughed at officers for taking 'chasers,'" said he, in referring to Mrs. Taggart.

"Where was the beer drinking contest?"

"In a room set aside for officers and their wives in the post canteen," he replied.

"Who was present?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Poor and an officer."

"Who won the contest?"

Lost Drinking Championship.

"Mrs. Poor drank nine glasses of beer and Mrs. Taggart five glasses at one sitting," he said. "On one occasion she gave me a drink that I supposed was lemonade. It made me drunk. My brother remonstrated with her. The oldest child liked beer, and Mrs. Taggart often gave him beer to drink. When I first met Mrs. Taggart she was on sailing terms with all the officers and their wives.

"Afterwards her associates dwindled down to Mrs. Poor alone. The officers' wives quit calling. Mrs. Taggart told me that Mrs. Poor's oldest child looked more like Capt. Dunning than it did Mr. Poor. I came home one evening and found Mrs. Taggart angry. Mrs. Terry told Mrs. Berry in Mrs. Taggart's presence that Mrs. Poor was not fit to associate with.

"Mrs. Taggart was a member of a social club at Fort Thomas the first year, but when the club was reorganized the next year, Mrs. Taggart, Mrs. Poor and Mrs. Saffers were not included. They were considered three of a kind and were set apart in a class by themselves.

"The major told Mrs. Taggart to drop a gentle hint to the ladies of the garrison that she had quit calling on Mrs. Poor and the club would admit Mrs. Taggart to membership. Mrs. Taggart told me that Dr. Brooke called on Mrs. Poor one evening, then went home and attempted suicide. Mrs. Taggart told me that Col. Cochran had ordered Capt. Dunning to stay away from the Poor house where he was calling on Mrs. Poor.

Was Drunk in Cuba.

"I was in Matanzas, Cuba, with my brother. Mrs. Taggart told me one morning she and Mrs. Saffers were drunk the evening before. They were walking on the plaza and met two young officers, drunk, who invited them to go along to a saloon. They went and had a bottle of champagne. They drank that bottle and one of the officers ordered another. As they were raising the glasses for a drink Maj. Taggart entered and knocked the glass out of his wife's hand. One of the young officers started to get up, but was so drunk that he fell over.

"Maj. Taggart took his wife home and reprimanded the officers. After Mrs. Taggart's return from the Philippines I visited her one day in 1903 at her home in Chicago. On that occasion Mrs. Taggart showed me three fur coats bought for her by the major, that would cost $1,600 in this country. He also bought two kimonas costing $75 each, in Japan. He spent his last dollar buying her presents and had to borrow money to get home."

"You asked her how the major was?" was asked the witness.

"She said he was looking fine and that he didn't drink anything in Manila," replied Taggart. On cross-examination the witness said:

Drank at Taggart's Home.

"I was present at one game of poker at the Taggart house. Capt. Taggart, Capt. Crow, the preacher and myself were present, with others. They had some whisky and beer to drink that night.

"When did you first meet Capt. Rithers?"

"In August."

"You were at the beer drinking contest in the canteen."

"Yes, sir. We started out from the house for a walk at the request of Mrs. Taggart and finally drifted into the canteen about 8 o'clock. Mrs. Poor, Dr. Brooke, Lieut. Simmons and Lieut. Purdy were there. Someone ordered the drinks and we all took beer. Mrs. Taggart was excluded from the society meetings of the post from 1895 to 1898. Mrs. Taggart again became a member of the euchre club in 1895 and social relations between the Taggarts and the rest of the officers and their wives were again taken up."

"Is it not a fact that when Capt. Taggart heard that the Poors were coming from West Point to Fort Thomas he wrote them inviting them to live at his house until they got their own fixed up?" was asked the witness.

"I never heard of it, Mrs. Taggart said Poor's oldest child looked like Capt. Dunning and she wondered who the second child would look like."

On re-examination by Attorney Wertz, Howard Taggart was again asked:

"Did you ever see Capt. Taggart under the influence of liquor?"

"I do not recall that I ever did."

Register Names Identified.

After recess L. J. Firestone was called to the stand with the register of the Hotel Windsor at Akron. The register showed that March 15, 1900, Mrs. E. F. Taggart occupied room No. 32 and that W. C. Taggart of Cleveland, on the same day occupied No. 29. Both parties were for lodging and breakfast. Frank Mossmore, clerk at the American house in Wooster, was put on the stand with the register of the American hotel, and was asked to identify the signature of W. C. Taggart, which he did. He could not say the signature of W. C. Taggart on the register of the Windsor hotel was his name as the one identified by him on the American House register.

L. J. Firestone was recalled to the stand and on cross-examination stated rooms 29 and 32 were on the second and third floors, respectively, and at opposite ends of the building.

Mrs. Mary Taggart of Akron, cousin of the major, then took the stand. She stated that on Mrs. Grace Taggart's second visit to her place in Akron they took a walk up town, where Mrs. Grace Taggart bought a pair of shoes for William Taggart. Witness said Mrs. Taggart said:

"There is nothing in Orrville but church functions and our crowd has got up a dancing club, and I bought these shoes for Billy so that we could go to dances. I would rather ride around all week with Billy Taggart in his grocery wagon than go to their church functions."

Mrs. Nora Taggart, mother of the plaintiff, then took the stand. She testified that Grace spent about three months at her home while the major was in the Philippines.

Taggart in Tears.

"Did she ever find fault with life in Orrville?" asked Attorney Sterling.

"Yes, she often complained about life in Orrville being too slow, that she was a city girl, and her ways were city ways."

"Did she ever keep company while at your home?"

"She kept company with Billy Taggart and often went to dances with him."

"Did she ever entertain him at your home?"

"She frequently brought him into the house on their return from dances at 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning."

"Did she ever entertain him in the dark?"

"Yes, one night after a lunch on their return from a dance they left the dining room light burning low and retired to the parlor, where there was no light. I heard them whispering for rather a long time and started to investigate, when William and Grace stepped out from a dark corner."

"What was in that dark corner?"

"Nothing but one chair."

A rigid cross-examination ended the day's work and failed to shake the aged lady's story or develop anything new. Maj. Taggart, accompanied by his attorney, this evening went to his wife's home to see his two boys. All three broke down at the sight of each other. Later he took the boys for a walk and they spent the evening together.

Maj. Taggart was interviewed tonight about a story that Mrs. Taggart's father was employed as a porter in a hotel in Chicago. Mr. Taggart said he did not believe the report. He said the father's name was John Manville, and that he was a man of intelligence and refinement.

"The first I knew of Mr. Manville was when he came to our house in Chicago," said Maj. Taggart. "The girls called him Uncle John. Later I learned he was the father of Mrs. Taggart and Mrs. James Shields. So far as I know he is living in Chicago, but I do not believe he is employed as a hotel porter.

Better Water for Esplen.

In Esplen council last evening two ordinances went to second reading and will be passed at a special meeting early next week. They permit the Pandoodle and Esplen Water companies to operate in Esplen, and it is thought the water conditions of the borough will greatly improve.

CLUB SANDWICH STRANGLES A MAN

South Side Polish Laborer Dies While His Countrymen Helplessly Look On.

CHILD BORN AMID DISTRESS

John Solopak, a young Polish laborer who came to America less than three months ago, last night tried to eat a club sandwich and strangled to death. A piece of gristle from a slice of chicken in the meat lodged in his windpipe and choked him while his countrymen in his boarding house at 78 South Thirtieth street, stood helplessly by. For half an hour the man struggled to get his breath, and finally fell dead at their feet. Later the witnesses of the tragedy were arrested on the charge of being implicated in a murder, because the victim in his agony had fearfully lacerated his throat. At first it was thought he had met with foul play.

Solopak boarded with Steve Sutlack in South Thirtieth street and at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon went to the basement to eat his lunch, which among other dainties, contained the Polish version of a club sandwich. It contained generous slices of meat, pieces of sliced tomatoes and sliced onions. It was a new dish for Solopak and he ate ravenously. Suddenly he was heard coughing violently and then fell on the floor in great agony. A woman in the house called Special Officer Leyshon Williams and Inspector Werner. Mrs. Sutlack during the excitement gave birth to a child.

When the officers arrived they found the foreigners in a riot about the house. All told conflicting stories. Solopak was stretched out on the floor, his hands clenched and his eyes wide open. His throat was covered with blue finger prints, and the members of the household told conflicting stories about their companion's death.

The place was the scene of unspeakable distress. Outstretched on the floor lay the corpse of the man who had just yielded up his life in most terrible agony. On a couch only a few yards away lay the mistress of the boarding house screaming with pain. Around the house lingered a group of men who were too much terrified to call a physician.

When the police arrived the body of Solopak was cold in death. All were arrested and with the exception of the woman and babe, were taken to the South Thirteenth police station.

Dr. W. H. Weber was called and made a postmortem examination of the dead man. In the throat was found a piece of gristle which had caused his death by completely closing the walls of the windpipe. The body was removed to the morgue, and the men in the police station were released, each having promised to appear at the inquest as a witness. Mrs. Sutlack and her child will live.

DEATH ENDS DEADLY WORK.

After Killing Two Persons, Shooting Two Others and Slightly Injuring Two More, Negro Is Laid Low.

LEWISVILLE, ARK., Aug. 3.—After killing two persons, seriously shooting two others, one a woman, and slightly wounding two more, Ike Kinney, a negro, was killed in a river bottom at Doelin today after a fight with citizens who had surrounded him. Kinney killed a negro at Stamps on Wednesday, fled, and while being pursued, shot and killed E. R. Ferguson.

This morning the negro met Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, of Greensburg, and seriously wounded both, believing them to be members of a posse. Later, 25 men with dogs closed in on the negro, and he opened fire. C. F. Nash lost a finger and Alvin Barham was shot through the neck. Then W. C. Nash sent a fatal bullet into the negro.

MRS. CARLISLE CRITICALLY ILL

Wife of Mr. Cleveland's Secretary of the Treasury Is Not Expected to Recover.

BABYLON, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(Special)—Former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, who is spending the summer here, announced today that his wife was very sick, in fact, was in a critical condition.

Mrs. Carlisle is suffering from a surgical trouble and grave fears are entertained for her recovery, owing to her advanced years. An operation which might aid a younger person in recovering is not regarded as advisable. Mrs. Carlisle is about 70 years of age. She has not been well in some years, but was able to be about until a month ago.

DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 3.—A. B. Loutzenheiser, the absconding teller of the First National bank of this city, who was arrested in St. Paul last week while on his way to Duluth to give himself up, pleaded guilty in the Federal court this afternoon and was sentenced by Judge Page Morris to serve five years in the penitentiary, the minimum term.

Train Kills Aged Educator.

LAUREL, MD., Aug. 3.—Prof. A. G. Hartley, secretary of the State Teachers' association, was instantly killed and his body was horribly mangled this evening by a train of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He was 71 years old and well known as an educator. He was a member of the National Geographic society and of the American Historical association.

WILL KEEP HOLD OF MANCHURIA

PAYS FORTUNE FOR FREIGHT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.

Japan has apparently a fixed and firm determination not to relinquish its hold on Manchuria, no matter what contingencies may arise as a result of peace negotiations. At least that is the construction put on the hasty and secret preparations going forward for the building of the extension of the railroad which runs from Fusan on the southeast coast of Korea to Seoul, and which it is planned to take across the Yalu to Liao Yang in Manchuria.

Rush orders have been placed in the last few days with American firms and corporations for the material for the road. This includes 250 steel bridges, 150 locomotives and 2,000 cars.

The striking feature of the enterprise is the secrecy that has been observed in placing the orders and for the delivery of the bridges and rolling stock at the point nearest to that where it will be used. To maintain absolute secrecy in regard to an enterprise of such magnitude all possible precautions compatible with haste have been taken. Delivery is to be made overland and, although the saving in time can hardly exceed three weeks, a three-fold outlay in the way of freight bills seems not to have deterred the Japanese government from adopting that method of transportation.

Road Is Even Named.

Preparations for the construction of the road have progressed to the extent of naming it; it is to be called the Seoul-Wiju line. It was planned some time ago the road should furnish a connection at Liao Yang with the Russian railroad that runs from Harbin to Dalny and Port Arthur.

The government has placed its rush contract for 250 steel bridges with the United States Steel corporation. The tonnage is comparatively light, hardly exceeding 10,000 tons, but the bridges are all small and will be used to span brooks, rivulets and the little gullies that pierce the hills here and there like so many sabre slashes. The contract totals $500,000. A condition of the contract is that the material shall be delivered inside of two months, and that it is to be shipped overland instead of by the Suez canal route.

The Baldwin Locomotive works has the contract for the 150 locomotives. They are the small, narrow-gauge type. The locomotives will cost $2,288,000.

The cars are all to be of steel. They range up to 30 tons. There are two contracts, each for 1,000 cars. Half the order has been placed with the Western Car and Foundry Company, controlled by the Pressed Steel Car company, and the remainder of the contract is held by the American Car and Foundry Company of Berwick, Pa. All of the cars are of the gondola type, and will cost $2,000,000. The contract calls for their shipment inside of the next 90 days.

Enormous Freight Charges.

The freight charges alone for the transportation of the whole plant will amount to at least $1,200,000 by the route selected, the single item of the transportation of the cars amounting to $750,000.

These preparations on the part of the Japanese government to open Korean and Manchurian territory by a new and extensive railroad, equipped with the best bridges and rolling stock to be had, are taken by the few outsiders who know the facts to mean only one thing—an unalterable determination to hold and defend Manchuria against all comers. A government that has been under enormous expense for more than a year in maintaining a war can hardly be expected, they believe, to open up a territory, at once fertile and rich in mineral resources, for the sole purpose of turning the country over to its neighbor, China, in better shape than it was before its occupation by Japan. The theory that Japan dreams for one moment of relinquishing the territory, in view of the preparations it is now making for its improvement, is regarded as equally absurd.

All of the material contracted for will not be shipped over the same line. This was decided upon as a further safeguard to keep the matter public. About half of the material will be shipped over the Great Northern railroad to Seattle, and the rest will be taken over the Northern Pacific to Tacoma. From the Pacific ports, James J. Hill's steamships run weekly to Japan and the plant will be transported to the island empire by these. Yokohama is the Japanese port to which the material will be consigned.

As soon as the plant is well on its way across the Pacific a great fleet of transports will assemble in Yokohama bay. The army of dockmen will be ready to handle the units of the plant, and as quickly as it can be transferred from the Pacific steamers to the transports it will be rushed to its destination in Korea, and the line will be extended across the Yalu with all possible speed.

IS BODY OF BIGAMIST.

Corpse of Supposed "Lord Douglas" Kept for Nine Months, Was in Life the Husband of Four Women.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 3.—Two letters and a photograph received tonight from Fort Worth, Texas, indicate that the body of an Englishman which has laid unidentified in a receiving vault in this city for nine months is that of a man who claimed to be "Lord Douglas," but who was in fact a bigamist.

The letters, which are from Mrs. B. E. A. Douglas of Fort Worth to the chief of police here, and from Mrs. Louisiana H. Douglas of Lambert's Point, Va., to Mrs. Douglas of Texas, contain evidence that Douglas was married to at least four women—the two Mrs. Douglas known at present and women in California and Denver, from whom the former wife has heard.

ECHO OF CHADWICK CASE IN SUIT AGAINST SPEAR.

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 3.—George T. Cutts, receiver of the Citizens National bank of Oberlin, has brought an action against A. B. Spear, now in the penitentiary, and the United States Fidelity Company, which carried Spear's bond while he was cashier of the bank. The plaintiffs say the bank suffered the loss of $150,000 through Spear's dealings with Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. The action is brought to recover the value of Spear's bond, $15,000.

Foresters Raise Salaries.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 3.—At tonight's session of the Foresters, after an exciting fight, the salaries of the secretary, examining physician and treasurer were raised from $2,000 to $3,000.

BOY'S AIM IS GOOD AND HIS BROTHER WILL DIE

David and Charles Baker, Oakdale Youths, Quarrel Over Baseball Bat and David's Anger Leads to Fatal Shooting.

Disputing the ownership of a baseball bat, David Baker, aged 13 years, shot and fatally injured his brother, Charles, aged 11, yesterday afternoon, at their home in Highland avenue, Oakdale. The boys, with several companions, had been playing baseball in a vacant lot near the Baker home, when a dispute arose. Charles declared it was his turn to bat and when the others disputed this, he picked up the bat and ran into his home. David followed and demanded the bat. Charles ran into the bedroom on the second floor and his brother followed. Seeing a rifle standing in a corner David picked it up and aimed it at his brother, at the same time commanding him to give up the bat.

In a spirit of bravado the younger boy dared him to shoot and then, telling him to wait a minute, went to a bureau to get a 32-caliber revolver which he knew was there. Just as he started for the bureau his brother fired. The bullet, a 32-caliber one, struck him in the right temple, and the child fell to the floor. His brother became frightened and ran out of the house screaming to his mother than he had shot his brother. The mother with three daughters was attending a wedding in the house adjoining. After telling her of the accident, the boy ran back to the house and met his brother on the porch, his tiny hand covering the wound. The mother and her three daughters rushed from the wedding to the house and found the boy seriously injured.

Physicians probed for the bullet but failed to locate it. They gave it as their opinion that the child could only live a few hours. The boys had often played with the rifle which was kept unloaded in the house. On Tuesday evening the home was entered by thieves who stole a few loaves of bread, and Mrs. Baker told her oldest son, Jesse, to put a cartridge in the rifle. This was unknown to the children.

Harry Baker, the father of the boys, is a tinner in Washington, Pa., and visits his home only at the week's end. He was notified of the accident by telephone, but when he reached his residence last evening the child was unconscious and rapidly sinking. At a late hour last night the child was just living, and the physicians entertained no hopes for his recovery.

DODDS WANTS ON THE TICKET

Secretary of the Miners' Union Is Republican Candidate for Clerk of Courts.

FORD LEAVES CITY FOR REST

William Dodds, secretary of the United Mine Workers, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts. He has formally notified Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the county committee.

Mr. Dodds lives at Banksville in the sixth legislative district. He has been a miner all his life, working in the pit until he was elected an officer of the Mine Workers' union. While he has always been a Republican, Mr. Dodds has not mixed unionism and politics. He has a big following among the miners and other organized trades. Had a vote been taken in the labor convention held in Old City hall last Sunday, Mr. Dodds would have received the indorsement.

Mr. Dodds will have as an opponent for nomination, Capt. John A. Reed. He has formally notified Chairman Ford of his candidacy and is conducting a lively canvass for votes. Capt. Reed is an old soldier and has long been active in Republican politics.

Chairman Ford yesterday left the city for a week's rest. During his absence candidates can send their announcements to Secretary Charles A. Muehlbronner. Several men who intend contesting for nominations will make known their candidacies next week. Owing to an error in the new rules, candidates are not required to pay their assessments until Tuesday before the primaries. As this will allow but three days for the printing and distribution of the tickets, it will be necessary to make a change in the provisions. It is probable an agreement can be gotten from the candidates to pay the assessment 15 days before the primaries. It was the intention of the makers of the rules to fix this limit.

Mayor Hays says the fusionists will not complete their ticket until early in September. The purpose of the delay is to ascertain something about the makeup of the Republican ticket.

Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety has issued orders to Miles S. Humphreys, chief engineer of the bureau of fire, to prevent interference with firemen who belong to the Firemen's Protective union or those who desire to join. Pass days are to be arranged so the firemen can attend meetings of the union.

Ex-Mayor R. T. Carothers of McKeesport is the latest candidate for the position of chief executive to succeed Mayor G. J. Falkenstein of that city. Yesterday he stated he intended to enter the race.

GETS A BRICKLAYER.

Mayor Falkenstein Remits a Fine and Puts Man to Work.

"I'll remit your fine if you will go to our garbage furnace and help them get it ready to burn refuse," said Mayor G. J. Falkenstein of McKeesport yesterday to Jerry Eccles of Pitcairn. He had been arrested for being drunk and stated he was a bricklayer. Eccles went to the furnace and was put to work.

Owing to the effort being made to get the furnace in working order the residents of the Eleventh ward, who recently instituted injunction proceedings against the members of the board of health to restrain them from maintaining a garbage car in the ward may drop the suit. The suit was to come up in common pleas court today.

REUNIONS AT LUNA PARK.

Grand Army Comrades and Maccabees Are to Celebrate.

Two more reunions have been planned for Luna park. On next Friday the Maccabees of Allegheny county will hold a celebration in the park of glorious lights, and on Wednesday, August 16, the veterans of One Hundred and Second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, will hold camp-fire. Free admission will be given to the park for comrades and their families.

The Maccabees expect to have 10,000 visitors. Supreme Commander D. P. Markey will attend and will deliver an address. A number of other great camp officers and their ladies will be present. Two prizes of free trips to Atlantic City will be given to holders of lucky tickets in the dancing pavilion.

WOMAN JUMPS INTO RIVER; WANTS TO DROWN HERSELF

Mrs. J. L. Hoffman of Wall avenue, Wilkinsburg, attempted to commit suicide in the Allegheny river near Hulton yesterday morning. L. M. Morris, a resident of Oakmont, sprang into the water and brought the woman back to shore. She said she had to drown herself. It is thought that recent troubles deranged her mind. She is about 45 years old and has a husband and three children living in Wilkinsburg. She had been visiting friends in Oakmont.

Husband's Victim Improving.

There is a chance that Mrs. Theresa Darling, who was shot by her husband at 1072 River avenue, Allegheny, on Tuesday evening, will recover. It was said at the Allegheny General hospital last night that she had improved somewhat. She was permitted to see her mother yesterday. Should her condition continue better the bullets will be probed for.

Driver Is Badly Injured.

Mathew Smith, aged 19, of Stanton avenue, a driver for Dice & Co., was thrown from his wagon yesterday evening at Liberty avenue and Thirty-eighth street. His left arm was broken, his forehead lacerated and one of the wheels passed over his stomach. He was taken home.

Bids Were Too High.

All of the bids for the construction of the new engine house were yesterday rejected by Mayor Hays and Director Harry Moore. The limit fixed by the city for the cost is $57,000. The lowest bid offered was $63,400.

VIEWERS' BOARD IS VERY COSTLY

Controller Larkin Underestimated Their Item of Expense to City of Pittsburgh.

STATEMENT OF THE REVENUES

Controller John B. Larkin in his statement of yesterday underestimated the cost to the city of the board of viewers. Pittsburgh will be required to pay out about $1,000,000 for improvements this year. Mayor W. B. Hays says he favors a change in the system of assessing benefits and damages.

Larkin overlooked the items for the Reynolds street sewer, $46,000; Climax street sewer, $58,000; Webster avenue improvement, $143,000 In addition there is pending the opening and widening of Hamilton avenue, which will cost the city between $400,000 and $500,000.

The controller yesterday issued a statement comparing the revenues for the first six months of this year with a similar period of 1904. The statement follows:

WILL FIGHT MOORE.

Safety Director to Be Taken Into Court in Fender Ordinance.

Arrangements are being made by the Pittsburgh board of trade to take Harry Moore, director of the department of public safety into court because of his delay in enforcing the street car fender ordinance. The suit will be filed in common pleas court No. 2.

Director Moore and John Murphy, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, did not confer yesterday about when the next fender test will occur.

HOMESTEAD BOYS ARRESTED FOR ROBBING DEAD COMRADE

E. Mears of Homestead yesterday sued William Cain and William Swanson on the charge of robbing their dead comrade, Charles Mears, 17 years old, who was drowned while swimming in the Monongahela river on Saturday evening. It is alleged that the boys took young Mears' clothes and articles which were contained in the dead boy's pockets. The action was brought before Justice of the Peace Giles and the defendants were each held in $300 bail for court trial on a charge of larceny.

Escaping Gas Explodes.

An explosion of gas in a building at 817 Carson street, South Side, last night, injured John Washington, and did damage to the amount of about $200. Washington was in the cellar putting in some gas fixtures when the explosion occurred. He was thrown down and slightly burned. The building is owned by Mrs. Mary E. Bender of 907 Carson street.

Alleges Checks Were Forged.

Kirk Graner was committed to jail for a hearing by Alderman Levy yesterday on a charge of forgery made by Joseph Reichman of Reichman & Foster, cigar manufacturers, on Clark street. Graner, it is alleged, passed two worthless checks signed with his father's name for $60 on the firm.

Amalgamated Lodges to Meet.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The official call has been issued for meetings of the Amalgamated lodges here, at Girard and at Greenville for Saturday afternoon to consider the question of declaring the American Steel Hoop Company's mill open.

McKeesport to Have Arcade.

McKeesport is to have an arcade building in Fifth avenue. The contract was let yesterday for the excavating. The building will be six stories and will be devoted to market purposes. It is to be operated by McKeesport business men. The cost of the enterprise is said to approximate $100,000.

GLASS MEN ARE IN CONFERENCE

Big Gathering of Bottle Manufacturers and Blowers Is on at Atlantic City.

CHANGES ARE REQUESTED

One of the most important conferences between union glass manufacturers and the union representatives for many years opened yesterday at Atlantic City and is likely to continue the rest of the week. The manufacturers represented in the conference are the members of the Glass Bottle Manufacturers' association. The union is the Green Glass Bottle Blowers' association.

At this conference the policy of the blowers in regard to the struggle, both of their union and of the union manufacturers in competition with the non-union manufacturers, will be outlined. The manufacturers are presenting strong arguments to show there should be a reduction of wages and a change of the old agreement in a number of ways to suit the conditions of the market.

The influence of the blowing machines and the overstocked condition of the market generally are all to be pointed out this week and the union will be asked to help to change this situation by allowing the manufacturers a better working basis in order to compete with the product of non-union factories.

It is said that the present conference will decide in many cases whether union factories will operate at all during the coming fire. It is admitted that it will decide in the majority of cases whether the season will be a profitable one, for on the present wage scale, it is argued, nothing but loss will be the outcome for a large proportion of the glass manufacturers.

One of the difficulties of which many of the union glass manufacturers have been complaining of the action of certain other union manufacturers who have bought up the product of non-union factories. It is urged that the union should stop this practice.

The policy of the manufacturers in the present conference has not been so much to formulate demands as to present the whole situation to the union and ask the workers to solve the situation as their judgment finds best.

The entire situation has been canvassed in meetings of the manufacturers and in meetings of the union before the present conference opened and a decision is expected to be reached.

PRICE OF COAL MAKES AN UPWARD MOVEMENT

Hocking Valley Operators Advance Quotations 10 Per Cent and More Are Likely to Follow.

The movement toward higher prices for bituminous coal which has been gathering strength under the growing demand for several weeks past, has crystallized into effective shape in one of the most important districts of the country, the Hocking valley. The operators of that section who have been selling three-quarters coal at $1.10 to $1.15, now make no price below $1.25. This advance is practically 10 per cent.

The advance in the Hocking valley district affects the Pittsburgh situation in two ways. One of the most important producers there is the New Pittsburgh Coal Company, which is owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Again, the advance in one district has its effect upon the whole market, as it is a strong indication of a better condition generally.

With the present activity of the iron and steel industries as well as many other lines which affect the coal business by their own consumption of coal and by their demand for railroad cars, it seems certain that the present month cannot pass without higher prices prevailing generally in the coal trade. That there will be a car shortage this fall is accepted as certain by both the railroads and the large shippers.

WANTS ACT ENFORCED.

Adolph Edlis Seeks Aid of Humane Society in Purifying the City.

Representative Adolph Edlis has asked the Western Pennsylvania Humane society to enforce his act relating to the punishment of men who live off the savings of disorderly house keepers. The police have not paid any attention to the law.

President Walters says the board of directors will take up the matter at the next meeting in September. If the society can arrange for the expense of employing the necessary agents, efforts will be made ot enforce the law.

AFFAIRS IN BETHEL CHURCH STILL IN DISTURBED STATE

The Rev. I. S. Lee, formerly pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, Wylie avenue, yesterday was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs by Alderman I. A. Levy on a charge of disorderly conduct. The suit grew out of an effort to remove Mr. Lee's belongings into the street, it being alleged that he refused to vacate the parsonage of the congregation. Mr. Lee denies that he used language such as was sworn to on the witness stand.

Two Contracts Are Awarded.

Mayor James G. Wyman and Director of Public Works E. J. McIlvain of Allegheny, yesterday awarded the contract for a new manifold system at the Montrose pumping station to the International Construction Company at $58,529 75. They also awarded the contract for a hand crane at the Howard street pumping station to the Pearson Manufacturing Company at $3,650. The bids were opened last Monday, together with bids for the raising of the roof of the Howard street pumping station 10 feet, and the laying of water pipes in Perrysville avenue and in Sycamore, Main and East Lacock streets. The bids for the latter contracts were all considered too high and will be readvertised.

Mr. Hirsch is Chosen Director.

I. E. Hirsch, vice president of the Nesb-Hirsch Publishing Company, has been elected a director of the Lincoln National bank. He succeeds W. F. Wilson, formerly treasurer of the Consolidated Ice Company and of the Allegheny Plate Glass Company, who has removed from the city and resigned as a director on account of ill health. Mr. Hirsch was for many years one of the proprietors of the firm of Max Schomberg & Co., prior to the sale of the company to the First National bank, and is a thorough banker.

Hilltop Pastor Leaves.

The Rev. F. H. Farrington, pastor of the Maple Avenue Baptist church, who resigned last night, was tendered a reception by his congregation and a number of hilltop ministers. Mr. Farrington will resume his studies at the Southern Theological seminary at Louisville, Ky.

Enlarging Wilmerding's School.

Ground has been broken for a four-room annex of the Wilmerding public school. A large force of men have been put to work and the building will be ready by October. It will be of brick and cost $15,500. The overcrowded condition of the Wilmerding schools has worried the directors for the last two years.

MORE WATER FOR THE TWENTIETH

Citizens of the Ward Learn That Bigelow Has Provided for Immediate Relief.

WILL TAP THE NEGLEY MAINS

The water system in the Twentieth ward is to be improved within the next 30 days; money for the purpose has been set aside by the department of public works. And with the completion of the temporary work in contemplation, the ward will be supplied with an adequate supply. Next spring, when the appropriations are being made up, the sum of $200,000 is to be used in giving to the Twentieth ward a supply of water commensurate to the population of the district.

These facts were communicated to about 50 of the prominent citizens of the ward who gathered at the home of Dr. William R. Hamilton, Friendship and Winebiddle avenues. The committee which had been appointed at a previous meeting to see Director Bigelow and enlist his efforts for a better condition of affairs, submitted its report. It was stated that not only Director Bigelow is interested, but that Supt. Shepherd of the bureau of water supply and distribution had already been over the field and devised means for temporary relief. Preliminary plans and contracts have been let to relieve the present situation by putting in cross lines from the 36-inch mains in Negley and Friendship avenues, and next spring the ward will be given an additional supply from the 50-inch main leading to the South Side.

Charles W. Houston presided at last night's meeting. Councilmen C. W. Helmold, G. W. Hammer and A. G. Roenigk and Director of Charities James W. Clark were among those present. The chairman of the committe, James W. Houston, presented the committee's report. He said the committee, which includes, besides himself, S. B. Hubley, David Kirk, Director Clark and E. A. Kearn, together with the ward councilmen, called on Director Bigelow last Monday morning, and he assured them that there would be a better water supply for the ward within the next 30 days. The committee later communicated with Superintendent A. B. Shepherd of the bureau of water supply and distribution, and learned that he and Director Bigelow had gone over the water system of the ward and that a better supply could be obtained by utilizing the Negley avenue main.

Councilman Helmold said he had seen Director Bigelow regarding the matter and that the director had set aside money for the temporary improvement, and after the appropriations are made next year the director said about $200,000 would be set aside for further and more permanent improvements of the ward's water supply. Mr. Helmold had also seen Superintendent Shepherd and had been shown the plans for the work. They are all completed and the contracts are let and Superintendent Shepherd, he said, had positively asserted that improvements to assure an abundance of water for the ward would be completed within 30 days.

A motion was made to accept the committee's report and to continue the committee for further service if the water was not forthcoming. This motion was carried unanimously. An adjournment was then taken until two weeks from last night, when another meeting will be held at Dr. Hamilton's residence. At this meeting the residents of the ward expect to hear of progress in the work.

Women's Summer Underwear—Reduced Prices.

We've often hinted that it is the best part of wisdom to buy anything at the end of a season—if you can wait that long. So far as temperature is concerned, it is not near the end of the season for light-weight underwear—so far as we are concerned our season is about through, and for this very reason we are selling women's woven underwear for very substantial reductions.

The point we desire to make is this: If you do not need this underwear at present, the reductions are generous enough to warrant your buying the garments now and laying them away until next season. Surprising how very many people follow this rule.

Three styles of fancy vests—pink, blue, silk mixed—75c grades for, each 50c
Pink and blue silk mixed Vests, $1.25 and $1.75 grades, at, each 75c
Silk Mixed Vests, trimmed with hand crocheting, $1.75 grade, at, each $1.00

Medium weight cotton Vests and Drawers, a weight needed for the extremely cool mornings and evenings and for sudden changes of weather, each 36c
Lisle, cotton and silk mixed drawers, grades that sell quickly for 75c and $1.00, now, a pair 50c
All sizes of knit corset covers, grades that sell for 35c and 50c, now, each 8c
Union Suits, for very small sized children—grades that sell for 50c and 75c, now, each 10c

Men's Summer Clothes Moving Out Fast.

Give notice of a final reduction on seasonable clothes and you have the attention of men at once. Saving $4.50, or $6.00, or $8.00, or $10.00 on a suit of clothes is business—good business. The writer bought a $25.00 suit and a $6 pair of trousers and only paid $17.00 for the outfit—and he did nothing more than any other man can do. Of course, you must recognize that in cleaning up men's clothing, in picking up a big bargain, the best sometimes falls to the man that is away off the normal build—a big fellow or a little fellow, a pudgy fellow or an attenuated fellow.

Mark this: Whatever your build, whatever your age, you can save a neat sum now on three-piece and two-piece suits.

$10.00 three-piece suits now selling for $ 6.50.
$16.50 three-piece suits now selling for $ 8.50.

Gentlemen, Any Straw Hat in the House, 50c.

Meaning that you can have a brand new straw hat to wear for at least thirty days—they will hardly be called off before that time.

Whatever you have to say, don't you hold to the opinion that these are 50c hats—nothing of the kind, none of them worth less than $2.00—many worth more.

Stirring Clearance of Boys' Wash Suits

How many sturdy boys are in your family? Three? Good! May Teddy's blessing attend you. Now, all boys look very dapper in wash suits—when the wash suits are clean—and to have clean suits it is necessary to have a number of washable suits on hand. We are clearing out our Summer supply of wash suits, and we herewith present the evidence of a substantial saving, broadly hinting that it will be wise on the part of parents to give this some consideration and to attend today as early as possible.

Sailor and Russian styles of Boys' Suits, all sizes—grades that formerly sold for $2.00 and $2.50—now reduced to, a suit $1.25
Sailor and Russian styles of both colored and white wash Suits—remainders of lines that sold for $3.00 and $3.50—all sizes now reduced to, a suit $2.00
Sailor and Russian Suits, made of the very finest grades of linen, all sizes, remaining lots from lines that sold for $4.00 and $5.00, reduced to, a suit $3.00
Norfolk Suits of the staunchest of wash fabrics—fine goods from lines that sold for $4.00 and $4.50, reduced to, a suit $3.00
Norfolk Suits of excellent wash materials, various lots that remain from lines that sold for $3.00 and $3.50, reduced to, a suit $2.00
Washable Reefers—sizes for 3, 4, 5, 6, 7-year-old boys—reefers that were fine value for $3.50 and $4.00 quite a number to close out for, each $2.50

To-day Special Sale Trunks and Bags

And the half of tomorrow also. Every other person you meet now greets you with: "Going on your vacation soon?" The B. & O. R. R. yesterday took out one of the largest excursions to the seashore that ever left this city. And the best of it is the biggest excursions are yet to come. What about a trunk? We've got a lot of substantial trunks, different kinds, that we'll sell you under price.

$7.00 trunks for $4.75.
$7.00 and $7.50 trunks for $5.00.
$8.00 trunks for $5.75.
$8.50 trunks for $6.25.
$9.00 trunks for $6.50.
$12.00 trunks for $9.50.

$10.50 steamer trunks for $8.00.
$11.00 steamer trunks for $8.50.
$12.00 steamer trunks for $9.00.

And we have Traveling Bags of the several leathers, of alligator, calf, walrus, in black and in tan, in sizes for men and for women, from 12-inch to 18-inch—and we are selling them for a third off and a half off regular prices.

We would like to call to the attention of anyone intending to make a long trip, say from here to the Pacific Coast, the practicability of our enormour Wardrobe Trunks. They are, beyond all dispute, the most substantial trunk ever built for the traveler. Their storage capacity is immense, and yet the trunk itself is not overly large, not any larger than the old-fashioned Saratoga trunk. Will you see this best of trunks?

A STAMPEDE IS CAUSED IN A FIFTH AVENUE CROWD

Women's Terrifying Experience Results in an Exhibition of Hosiery and French Heels, While Pittsburgh's Thoroughfare Is Thronged.

"Help! Murder! Save us!"

These words echoed from the skyscrapers along Fifth avenue and Smithfield street at 6 o'clock last night, while 50 women stampeded down the street.

"Help! Help! Help!"

There was a swish of skirts and a promiscuous showing of open-work hosiery and French heels. Men looked terrified and rushed into the middle of the street to see what had happened. At the corner of Smithfield street a trolley car was taking on its cargo of passengers. In front of the Park building an automobile stood idly at the curb, while two or three perplexed bystanders were sizing up its running gear. There was nothing new about this and the loungers looked up and took notice. The ruins of the Grand Opera house walls and the style of the ladies walking down the street no longer attracted their notice. Surely something was doing.

"Help! Murder! Save us!"

A few moments before nearly 100 women had been standing at the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. Now not one was left. They were scampering away as if a real bad man had suddenly sprung in among them.

"Turn in a fire alarm, you men there," cried a sissified man who ran breathlessly out of the park building. "Call the police—do something, men, do something."

His only answer was the rustle of skirts and the patter of feminine heels on the inhospitable stone pavement.

The hour was ripe for the appearance of a hero.

Then a man stepped out into the street. He circled around several times and lifted his No. 13 shoe in a menacing manner. Down it came like a trip hammer—and the poor rat that had caused all the excitement, was dead. People said "Brave!" and "Banzai!" The women, with lowered skirts, boarded their cars homeward. The last persons to leave were the men who had shouted for the firemen and police.

Slippery Dollars.

They certainly do slip through some people's fingers to make the other fellow prosperous. How is it with you? Perhaps you are numbered one of the 45,000 thrifty ones who deposit their surplus coin with the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Fourth ave. and Smithfield st. If not, get into good company.

AN ORDINANCE—Opening Warner street in the Sixth ward of the city of Allegheny, from Washington avenue to Warner street, of a width of twenty-four (24) feet, according to accompanying plan, and as herein described.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That Warner street in the Sixth ward, extending from Washington avenue to Warner street, be and the same is hereby opened of a width of twenty-four (24) feet, according to accompanying plan, the center line thereof being described as follows:

Beginning on the north line of Washington avenue at a point five hundred forty-two and ninety-eight hundredths (542.98) feet east of Fulton street; and thence extending in a northwestwardly direction a distance of one hundred ninety-five and fifty-nine hundredths (195.59) feet to the south line of Warner street, which point is three hundred ninety-five and seventy-three hundredths (395.73) feet east of Fulton street.

The damages caused thereby, and the damages caused by the grade thereof, and the benefits to pay the same, to be assessed and collected in accordance with the acts of assembly in such case made and provided.

Sec. 2. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

DEPARTMENT OF CHARITIES,
CITY OF ALLEGHENY, PA.
August 2, 1905.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the city comptroller until 11 a. m., Monday, August 14, 1905, for the erection of porches at City Home, Claremont, Pa., in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by and on file in this office. Plans and specifications can be seen and all information obtained at the office of the department of charities, No. 607 West Diamond street, Allegheny, Pa., or at the office of the architect, W. Z. Beaman, No. 954 Empire building, Pittsburgh, Pa. A bond with two sureties probated before the city comptroller, or the bond of a surety trust company, which has complied with the ordinance of councils for furnishing bonds for city contracts, bonds to be in the amount of one-half the estimated cost of said work. The mayor and director of the department of charities reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

Proposals will be opened publicly in the office of the mayor at 11:30 a. m., Monday, August 14, 1905.

Friday, August 4, 1905.

In deciding for the full hour at noon the state puts itself on solid ground. An hour is not too much time for the midday meal in factories, as a measure for the health of employes. It is questionable whether any concession ought to be made even upon the request of employes. They should have ample time to eat and some time to rest afterward.

Mayor Falkenstein of McKeesport administers the law on the basis of the good of society. This is inferred from the fact that when he had a good bricklayer up for sentence he ordered him to work where he was needed, instead of putting him in prison. Bricklayers are not to be had every day and McKeesport needed that one more than his money.

There is much to commend in the project to honor the memory of Col. Bouquet by some sort of monument in the section where his activities so greatly aided the march of civilization. His name is immortalized, at present, by being attached to a cross roads postoffice, located near the famous Bushy run battlefield. His services deserve more recognition than that and the monument should succeed.

It is said the promoters of the tunnel through Herron hill will ask no franchise from the city, but proceed under a state charter. This implies that no street space will be occupied or interfered with. The right of way must be obtained from property owners and the works must be kept inside the curb line. In a way it is fortunate if this can be done. The company will be in no danger of being insulted by having proffered public compensation refused by councils.

Pennsylvania's new capitol will be ready for occupation by all departments in three months, the contractor avers. The building is a fine one that does credit to the great commonwealth. Its cost has been reasonable, all things considered, and the convenience of having all departments of the government under one roof will be greatly appreciated. The old capitol outlived its usefulness and it was a fortunate circumstance that its destruction by fire did not involve the loss of very valuable records.

Washington county's fusion movement has been formally launched by the nomination of a full ticket. A friendly report asserts the ticket will be supported by "nearly every Democratic voter in the county." Precisely. If any part of the ticket wins it will be a clear gain for the Democracy. Of such are fusion movements made. They are the only hope of Democrats in most parts of Pennsylvania and suspicion rests upon any who pretend to be Republicans while supporting them.

New Orleans authorities are finding the battle with yellow fever more strenuous than they had counted on. Their greatest difficulty is in locating the centers of infection so they may guard against communication. The ignorant people in infected quarters put every possible obstacle in the way, concealing victims until death forces disclosure. Nothing could be worse than this, whether the theory of mosquito or direct infection be accepted. Under the circumstances the health authorities are doing as well as might be expected.

When the Pittsburgh board of trade finally brings suit to compel compliance with the city ordinance requiring street cars to be equipped with fenders, there can be no complaint on the score of hasty action. Many months have passed since notice was given by that organization of its intention to resort to the law. The subject has, since then, been taken up and dropped. There are fenders that will fend. This statement cannot be successfully denied while the offer of one inventor to stand before his own device remains unchallenged. Under the circumstances there has been no "crowding."

Orders have been issued to give precedence to Baron Komura in the naval attentions to the peace envoys. This decision on official etiquette has caused some question. Doubtless it is founded on the fact that Baron Komura is the active foreign minister of Japan, an official position construed as outranking that of M. Witte. To the average American the distinction is not important, as the prospect for frank negotiations and good results would probably be enhanced if the distinguished envoys could drop all formalities, go down to the dock together like two New York business men and begin negotiations as soon as they got on board the vessel assigned to carry them to Portsmouth.

City Revenues.

Controller Larkin's statement of revenues collected during the first six months of this year throws light upon the sort of administration the city has. The increase comes from direct taxation. There are a few other items that show increase; for example a $10 contribution to the "conscience fund" and a sale of "old junk" which had no counterparts in last year's accounts. These items could be larger without covering all the money of which the city has been dishonestly deprived, or the disposal of all the "old junk" on hand.

Switch license fees have shriveled to an insignificant sum and magistrates' fees have dwindled. Some explanation of the latter shrinkage may be found in recent proceedings which resulted in an order to have such fees returned in future. Mr. Larkin himself regards the failure of switch fees as remarkable. It would be interesting to know how many owners of switches made voluntary subscriptions to the Democratic-Citizens campaign fund last winter and how much they are expected to produce this fall.

The controller has performed a public service by making the figures public. He is doing something, also, by calling attention to the work of the board of viewers. Publicity is a deterrent of reckless practices. It is a serious question, however, whether anything will restrain Mr. Larkin's political associates, or induce any of them to swell the "conscience fund."

Jerome's Independence.

One of the most unique characters in New York politics is the virile District Attorney Jerome. Since he has been in office he has slashed right and left with a vigor that has at times been almost appalling. He has, in a great measure, been a free lance with an enthusiasm for ferreting out evil. He has been condemned for overzealousness and criticised for his highly dramatic methods, but who can say aught against his results in bringing the wicked to judgment and punishing the guilty?

With the active direction he has given the district attorney's office it is not strange he should have provoked powerful enmities, which are, perhaps, the chief elements of his strength with the independent voters. He was elected on a fusion ticket, which attracted the best of the Democracy and the Republican party. He now proposes to stand as an independent candidate for reelection, that is, the candidate of those who believe in enforcing the laws. Duty has ever been his watchward.

The question arises whether he can succeed himself as an independent candidate? There have been political revolutions in New York, notably through the election of Strong and Low as mayors of that city. As an independent candidate Jerome will alienate some of his present friends. At the same time, in losing them he stands to gain from the best elements of the voting population. His cause is right, and his banner should be carried to victory over immorality and vice. If any one man more than another can be trusted to win that triumph Mr. Jerome is certainly the one to be the leader in the contest.

Poetry and Peace.

It is to be hoped sincerely that the peace negotiations between the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries will not be complicated by any demand on the part of Messrs. Komura and Takahira that Russia acknowledge the mikado to be a great poet and buy some limited de luxe editions of his collected utas. It has been rumored for a long time, and lately we had the proof of it, that Mutsuhito is addicted to versification. His royal brother, King Oscar of Sweden, is also a poet, and a good one, which may account for his misfortunes in his other line of business; but Mutsuhito, to judge by the translations of his odes, made by a loyal Japanese, isn't much more of a poet than Frederick the Great, or William the Wanderer, which may account for his success as a ruler.

It may be contended that the mikado's verses are untranslatable, like Heine and Beranger, and there may be truth in this contention. No one can deny that the following stanza, in the original, looks profound enough to baffle a Browning club and melodious enough to suit the Swinburnians:

Matsuri-goto
Idete kiku ma wa
Kaku bakari
Atsuki hi nari to Omowazarishi wo.

Now, if this hadn't been translated for us by a loyal Japanese, there might be reason to suspect the hand of an enemy in the English rendering, as follows:

This day when deep in things of state,
The things that I am bound to do,
Little did it occur to me
How very hot the day had grown.

To suppose that a great emperor and a great poet can find nothing sublimer to say than "It's hot today," like any shopkeeper or ordinary mortal, is lese majeste if ever there was such a crime.

However, there is one of the mikado's poems which Czar Nicholas might have written, and which the Russian plenipotentiaries will do well to spring on their Japanese colleagues. In the original this poem reads as follows:

Shizuka ni mo
Yo wa osamarite
Yorokobi no
Sakazuki agen
Toki zo mataruru!

Which, being interpreted, means:

O for that time when joys of peace
Shall fill again the peaceful world!
Then shall I lift the wine cup high,
O for that time, I long for it!

The poem says nothing about indemnity or cession of territory, but the plenipotentiaries will probably arrange all that. And if they aren't too exorbitant and exacting, MM. Witte and Rosen may agree that Mutsuhito isn't such a bad bard after all and may order a few copies for the library at the winter palace.

The Hope That Failed.

The Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, John M. Pattison, was nominated on account of his affiliation with the Anti-Saloon league. His nomination was supposed to have been one of those "opportunist" moves the Democratic party has always been noted for. Gov. Herrick incurred the displeasure of the radical element of that organization, and the Democrats imagined they could win by the support of that element and the indorsement of the Prohibition party. That party was not to be caught so easily. It has chosen as its standard bearer, Aaron S. Watkins, a member of the faculty of the Ohio Northern University. It is related that those delegates who were known to have favored the indorsement of the Democratic nominee for governor did not even mention the subject when the call for nominations was made. From this it would appear Mr. Pattison will have to stand on the Democratic platform without the side attraction of the Prohibition tent.

Mr. Pattison is consoling himself for this disappointment by consorting with William Jennings Bryan, both gentlemen teaming it through certain sections of the state. Judging from the support given Mr. Bryan in Ohio it is not likely Mr. Pattison will gain much having the "peerless leader" of Democracy stumping for him. Have we not Mr. Bryan's own word for it, when in one of his post-election reflection moods, that the sections of the country where he spoke most frequently gave the largest majorities against him? This being an off year, Gov. Herrick may have his former majority reduced somewhat, but he will be reelected with many votes to spare. The prospects are he will get the support of many Democrats, weary of following Populist and Prohibition hearses to the salt river tombs.

Quest for the North Pole.

In the current number of the Review of Reviews there is an article entitled: "For Conquest of the Pole," in which the statement is made that during the past century 4,000 human lives, 200 ships and $100,000,000 have been lost in the fruitless efforts to reach that place. The intimation is it will be a bootless quest for present adventurers, as it has been disastrous to the hazards of the past. But is this so? Every new expedition succeeds in getting a little nearer to the coveted spot, profiting by the experience of those who have gone before.

Just now the greatest interest centers in the expedition under the direction of Capt. Peary, and if anyone can reach the pole the American people are willing to back Peary to accomplish that feat. He has learned many things by former trips, and while he expects to go farther north with his ship than any other vessel has yet gone, he will rely more on his sledge outfit to penetrate the mystery of the open seas beyond that limit of safe navigation.

It has frequently been asked what is to be accomplished after all if the north pole is finally discovered? We cannot tell until the time comes, whether it can be brought back like an Egyptian obelisk, or greased for ambitious youths to climb at country fairs. In the artistic sense it will be something new and rare. If an American finally reaches it, it will thrill the soul of every true patriot in the country as an achievement of the supposedly impossible; that an American at last got there first, where men of other countries slipped a cog. How it would stir the blood of the most sluggish to read this news from Peary some morning in the newspapers: "I have planted the flag on the north pole."

Yellow fever is disappearing from the isthmus of Panama, while it increases in New Orleans. American sanitation appears more effective outside of this country.

Pennsylvania's new capitol is nearly completed. It is a fine building, but will not suit some people because it has been built during Republican administrations.

Sergius Witte is a great man and one America welcomes heartily, but whoever makes his soft soap and taffy, in English, has been working overtime.

John D. Rockefeller is better than many of his critics. He is not howling vociferously when he has nothing to say.

Magistrate Moke is growing cautious. Not like some others connected with the administration who are unable to learn.

Insurance commissioners are getting busy in many states, since someone else has given them a cue.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. Yellow fever makes a market for Texas oil.

Stuyvesant Fish is for government control since the other fellow is crowding him.

Vardaman has taken a pacific turn since he found the other man ready to fight.

Abdul Hamid is angry and probably repeating what Gladstone said about him.

Nicholas is reported very ill. Ready to throw up the sponge, so to speak.

At any rate there have been no prostrations from heat for a few days.

District Attorney Jerome could hardly be anything but independent.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

Now comes the season of the year when veterans are wont to gather in pleasant places and tell how they put down the war of the rebellion.

They know the corps and division that did the business and each one could, if he would, name the particular regiment that set the pace that won the race.

The campaign of veterans for this year was opened at Kennywood park last Wednesday by the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, and as an opener of campaigns and things, this regiment is hard to beat. In fact, it has always been hard to beat at anything, even at claiming honors and glories.

It is said that Comrade Bill Shore claims to have the self-same towel that was used as a flag of truce at Appomattox.

Another comrade once claimed to have stood beside Gen. Grant on Little Roundtop, while the battle of Gettysburg was raging furiously.

Were it not that faithful comrades of the armies of the west always manage to be present on the occasion of the reunions of eastern army regiments, it is not improbable that the Army of the Potomac would be heralded as the sole savior of the Union and the flag.

However, to a soldier in battle there was but one regiment in sight, or maybe two—his own and the regiment in front, and this would be enough for him to see at a time.

A reunion of this famous regiment without Col. Ed. Jay Allen present is much like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out.

It was a source of regret all day long that the faithful and valiant colonel, who led the regiment on so many fields, and with such great success, could not be present.

That regrets were mutual was shown by the tone of the colonel's letter and the ring and rythm of the beautiful verses he composed for the occasion.

Col. Allen is detained at Atlantic City by reason of ill-health, but the tone of his letters is gratefully reassuring, so that we may expect to see him here at home soon again. When here his home is regimental headquarters, and the boys know they are always welcome.

Col. Ewing was in his place, as he always was on the field or in camp, and he read Col. Allen's poem with as much dignity and feeling as if he were reading an important field order to his command.

Isn't it strange, or at least it is peculiar, how quickly and how completely a bunch of veterans can resolve themselves into a band of enthusiastic soldiers, ready to follow their commander into the fray—any sort of a fray, even to an attack on a dinner table.

The fort-odd years since they shouldered knapsack, box and gun, seem to vanish as by magic, and they are again bold soldier boys, and feeling as young, for the moment, as they used to feel. The reason for this is that the old-feeling fellows are mostly dead, or not able to fall in at the tap of the drum.

Maybe the spirit that keeps many of the comrades young is the self-same spirit that kept them jolly and hopeful and wholesome when in the service. Comparatively few of those who are active now, and young in spirit, were ever homesick or got furloughs, or straggled on the march when footsore, hungry and tired.

There is Comrade Boyle, a veteran soldier and a veteran preacher, old enough to be a most acceptable presiding elder, and young enough to be one of the boys at a soldiers' reunion, and he misses but few of them. And he is always as welcome as he was at Kennywood, for he rivals Chauncey Depew as an after-dinner speaker. And then he is so earnest and so heartsome that were he absent he surely would be missed.

Comrade Boyle never lets slip an opportunity to urge the comrades and their friends to turn out and vote in favor of the Allegheny county memorial hall. It will be on the ticket this fall, and as all the good reasons are on the side of the memorial none should fail to vote for it.

The scheme for erecting a splendid hall instead of a monument has been heartily indorsed by every regimental association and Grand Army post in the county, and to the present time no opposition has been offered. Five different grand juries have recommended it, and the judges of the courts favor it, but Comrade Boyle and others thought it would be the proper thing to allow the people of the county to vote on it, and to that end a bill was passed at the last legislature to enable voters to do so.

You will see it on your ticket.

* * *

Comrade McKenna, now United States judge in far-off Porto Rico, was a member of the fighting "five-and-five," and a great favorite he is with the boys. He it was who was in command during the camp-fire proceedings, and he led the gang at a rapid pace from the picket line to the finish.

He proved himself a just judge, as well as a strategist, by calling out Charley O. Smith, chief state mustering officer of the G. A. R. and a representative of the Army of the Cumberland, early in the engagement. This seemed to be an act of fairness and of justice. It was clearly a stroke of strategy, however, when he next called out the one other representative of the western armies.

Now that these two guns were practically spiked the Army of the Potomac became the whole thing, with no one to say them nay.

Oh, he's all right!

But wait until he is surrounded and dragged to a camp-fire by the Seventy-eighth, or Seventy-ninth regiment. They won't do a thing to him, or hardly anything. And they will catch him sure, if he doesn't get wind of it and sail away to his island home.

It is not improbable that he will be hailed before the camp-fire of the 98th, 52d, and other Ohio regiments, which are to blaze as one fire at New Philadelphia on the 17th inst.; or at the camp-fire of the Jefferson County Soldiers' association at Steubenville on the 24th inst.

Anyway, Comrade McKenna will get what's coming to him, sure—if not this year, some other year.

It is a peculiarity of soldiers that they forget the ills of war, also the ill that comrades may have done, and only remember the good.

* * *

It was good to be there, if for no other reason than because there were lots of good people there.

Among those was Capt. John A. Cripps of Company G, who is now fighting the hosts of Satan in and around Zellenople as earnestly and valiantly, and we hope as successfully, as he fought the hosts of secession on the fields of the Potomac.

And the daughter of the regiment, Mrs. Eva Morgan Mulvey, recited pieces that pleased and stirred the hearts of all.

Dr. Tom Davis just couldn't stay away, although it was not his regiment. They do say he has contracted the reunion habit, and everybody appears to be glad he has it, and that he has it bad.

And there were many others there who have the habit, and are glad of it. Indeed it seems like a right good sort of habit to contract, if we may judge from the appearance of those who have it, and the wholesome spirit they manifest.

As far as heard from only one kick was registered and that was against the baby railroad, which would break loose about the time a speaker had reached the point of the story he was telling and literally drown him with its ear-torturing fuss and noise. Even this was quieted by a dose of soothing syrup administered by President Hill, who was anxious to hear all of Comrade Boyle's stories.

You don't have to stay away from these reunions because you didn't belong to the regiment, nor to any regiment. You are invited every time, and you will be just as welcome as if you were one of 'em, and it will do you a lot of good to go, no matter if you are only a little boy or girl.

Surely it was good to be there.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Little yellow man, dark blue suit, black eyes and hair, brilliant tan shoes and smoking American cigarets violently. This is Mr. Sato, who sits in a comfortable apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria and talks for Japan. He is the only member of the Japanese peace commission who sees strangers. He sees them as freely as an East Elde politician sees his poorest constituents the day before election. Mr. Sato is a diplomat. He holds an M. A. from old Asbury college in Indiana. All his life he has been in the Japanese diplomatic service. Once he was minister to Mexico. It was quite natural therefore he should be picked out by his associates on the peace commission to give out all the information about what Japan proposes to offer the Russians at Portsmouth.

But the humor of his "press agent" job must appeal to him highly. He sees one room full of newspaper men after another, and when all is done and said on the delicate situation, Mr. Sato is the least interviewed of any man in the room. He does not start in right away, as Li Hung Chang used to do when he interviewed his interviewers, by firing impertinent questions at them so fast that they had no chance to ask questions of him.

First Mr. Sato shakes hands with everybody. Then he sits down on a satin-covered sofa and smokes. To look at him one would think he was absolutely alone in the room. He gazes only at the burning end of his cigaret. Immediately upon being asked a question he looks sharply at the questioner out of eyes that seem to pop out of his head. Like a flash he closes them up, looks again at his cigaret and recrosses his legs. If it is a hard question he says he doesn't know.

Big Things Planned by Artists.

As soon as the prominent artists interested in the union of the National Academy of Design and the Society of American Artists return to the city from their summer outings, the proposed plan for the union will be vigorously pushed, and they hope to arrive at a scheme that will prove agreeable to both parties. The plan was first put forward during the winter in connection with the movement to found an art school at Columbia in which both of these societies should be interested. A story published this morning, however, to the effect that a New Yorker had offered to subscribe $1,000,000 toward the building and endowment fund, provided a site uptown should be chosen, was not authenticated today by Frederick Dielman, a member of the committee appointed by the National Academy of Design in connection with the proposed union, although he admitted that he would be pleased if it happened to be true.

Not Very Useful, Anyhow.

The abolition of the State Free Employment bureau, which is probably only a matter of a few months, will not occasion much excitement, because only a few hundred of this city's millions ever knew of such an institution. The state legislature, five years ago, passed a bill which provided that in every first-class city a free employment bureau should be established. One was started in East Thirty-first street, and it has furnished about 4,000 servants to families that were well able to pay an employment bureau fee. The institution degenrated into a domestic exchange. Its rooms were well attended daily by young and aged servants. The purpose for which it was established, namely, to get the workingman a job, was entirely lost sight of.

Another Pest Invades Gotham.

Look out for the brown-tailed moth. He is in the city and prepared to do business. To the automobiles running through the roads of Massachusetts and then coming into New York is due the invasion. The B. T. M. looks like a caterpillar, and the hairs that stick out from him he shoots off with the accuracy of a medal-wearer of a target company. They penetrate the cloth and the sting lasts for a couple of weeks. Dr. Howard, the chief of the bug bureau of the department of agriculture, is now in Europe looking for an insect of some kind or a bird that will take the moth for a steady diet.

No Contest Against Mrs. Mackay.

There will be no contest over the election of school trustee at Roslyn, L. I., in which Mrs. Clarence Mackay was elected a member of the board yesterday, polling 253 votes. Dr. Peter D. Leys, the defeated candidate, who received only 81 votes, was at first inclined to contest the election on the grounds of informalities in the Remsen-Mackay ballot, but he decided today to accept the result of the balloting. The first meeting of the new board will be held some time next week and it is expected that Mrs. Mackay will be present.

Must Leave Armory on Shipboard.

The question was raised in the court of special sessions today if a petty officer of the United States navy has a right to carry a revolver ashore when he is on leave. The question was decided in the negative, which was not satisfactory to Clyde J. Baily, chief yeoman on the cruiser Pennsylvania, who said he would appeal the case to the secretary of the navy. Baily was arrested on the Bowery last Saturday night with several sailors from the cruiser. In court today Baily admitted having the revolver, but pleaded in extenuation that he was an officer in the United States navy and had as much right to carry a revolver as a patrolman.

Jerome to Make Trip Up State.

District Attorney Jerome will leave the city tomorrow for a trip to Western New York, including a visit to the annual convention of the Chautauqua society, at Chautauqua, where, on Saturday, he will deliver an address on "patriotism of peace." He will go to Niagara Falls on Sunday, and be back in New York on Tuesday. Assistant District Attorney Train will accompany him.

THE PEACE MEETING

Little Doubt About Manchuria.

There really is little to haggle over in the Manchurian program of Japan. Russia will have to get out of the province, bag and baggage. But the question of the cession of Russian territory to Japan will not be so easily surmounted. Unless this disputed Siberian territory is in the actual possession of the Japanese, the Russians will balk stubbornly on the Siberian part of the Japanese program and the Japs seem to be in a good way to forestall all that by capturing the disputed territory. This is the significance of the advance against Vladivostok and the capture of the island of Sakhalin.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Question of Precedence.

Now, the question—the supreme question—is, Who shall sit at his right, in the place of honor? M. Witte is first of the Russian envoys, and precedes Baron Rosen, although the latter is an ambassador, representing the person of the emperor. Baron Komura is not an ambassador, but as minister of foreign affairs he makes ambassadors; yet Mr. Takahira is not an ambassador, but a minister. Will the president ask M. Witte to take the first place, and thereby put an affront upon the victorious Japanese, or will he give Baron Komura the seat of honor, at the risk of prolonging a hideous and costly war?—Washington Post.

Witte a Ready Talker.

The newspapers, from the professional viewpoint, have little reason for complaint against M. Witte. He is no tight-closed clam, considering a request for an interview derogation from his dignity. The ink on his commission was hardly dry before he invited in the correspondents. At Paris the stream of talk continued. Even the seclusion from the world implied by an ocean voyage has not imposed silence. With a wireless station on board we are able to read at breakfast what the Russian plenipotentiary feels moved to say.—New York Globe.

Preparing for the Entertainment.

The United States is evidently going to entertain the peace plenipotentiaries from Japan and Russia in a cordial and elegant manner, devoid of ostentation, and yet complete, as a gentlemap would entertain another who came from afar to meet him on an important mission. The gunboat Mayflower, which is a converted yacht, bought by the government at the time of the Spanish war, has just been refitted, and the plenipotentiaries will find it as comfortable and finely appointed a craft as they have ever had occasion to use.—Boston Herald.

It Is for Japan to Say.

Substantially it will be for Japan to say what she thinks she ought to have as indemnity for the past and security for the future. If Russia finds herself unable to comply with the requirements stated, it will be for her to convince the Japanese that something less will really serve the purpose. Or, if it unfortunately shall turn out that the representatives of the two nations cannot come to an agreement on this essential point, then the peace conference will come to an end and the mighty struggle will go on.—New York Times.

Points of View Differ.

It is clear that Russia and Japan are coming to Portsmouth to talk peace from widely different points of view. The Japanese have virtually served notice already that they do not intend to let their foe escape lightly. No especially easy terms can be expected from the victorious nation. On the other hand, the Russian envoys, like the czar, are decided in their assertions that there will be no peace which is hard for Russia to accept.—Cleveland Leader.

Witte the Man of the Hour.

Never did a country call more earnestly for the reforms that can only come with peace, and never was the issue more directly in the hands of the responsible ruler than this issue of peace or war is now in the hands of the czar and his advisers. From him there is little to be expected; from his envoy much may yet be hoped, for Witte is a man who understands Russia's needs and who alone can understand the judgment of the civilized world.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Strictly Business Meeting.

Japan can capture Vladivostok, but it would save time, labor and men to have it dismantled by treaty so that it can no longer be a rendezvous for Russian strength and a menace to the safety of Japan. It is evident from the few remarks made by the Japanese plenipotentiaries and by the tone which prevails in Japan that this peace congress is not regarded as a sentimental affair or a lovefeast, but as a strictly business meeting.—Baltimore American.

Envoys Know Their Business.

As time goes by the atmosphere will clear, and the excitement simmer down. The game now is at the stage of bargain and bluff. Let us not be carried away by chance rumor or carefully prepared invention. Peace is the word, and a peace will be signed. Its terms no man can today define. The envoys on both sides know their business, and will transact it in their own way.—Washington Star.

The British Alliance.

The cementing of a closer alliance may be a necessity to Japan, and one which she may be forced to consider paramount, but she will be assuming a serious responsibility in the eyes of Americans, and of all the civilized world outside of Great Britain, if she makes British interests paramount to her own and to the cause of peace.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Liberal Definition of Shame.

The czar insists that Russia will not accept peace with shame. Under the circumstances, however, he may be inclined to accept a liberal definition of the word.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Silver Lining.

Every cloud has a silver lining. Fever-smitten New Orleans, battling for life with the dread tropical scourge, will emerge from the conflict purified and enlightened. The war on yellow fever involves an infallibly effective crusade against mosquitoes. After the greater fight is won existence in New Orleans will be more joyous than ever. The lessons learned at so dear a cost are not likely soon to be forgotten.—Philadelphia Record.

Government Expenses.

There is no question that the administrative expenses of the United States have been increasing at an enormous ratio, but so also has the range of governmental activities increased. The navy, the foreign dependencies, the Isthmian canal, the irrigation works, are only a few of the larger additions to the national expenses. Consider also the infinite variety of service, scientific and commercial, of which former generations knew nothing and for which we now look to Washington.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Those Artful Celestials.

China would like to hold on to the friendship of the United States, which in past emergencies has been very valuable to her, but the celestials have an idea, which is childlike and bland, that they can compel us to be more friendly by themselves being less friendly.—Baltimore American.

They Need the Money.

Annual retainers of $2,500 do not go far with great lawyers like Senator Depew. Why is it took an eighth of that sum to meet a mere Town Topics subscription?—Philadelphia Ledger.

Sea Tour for Pittsburghers.

A personally conducted summer tour by sea has been arranged with a particular view to caring for Pittsburghers who desire to take the trip. This tour has been arranged at the invitation of Robert Hunter, commercial agent of the Merchants & Miners Transportation Company in this district. Mr. Hunter had arranged for carrying a large party of Pittsburghers on the usual summer tour of the company, which started July 25 from Baltimore, but at the last moment it was found that there were more than enough passengers for the one tour and that a second one would have to be arranged. This was done at Mr. Hunter's suggestion for the Pittsburghers, and the steamer will leave Baltimore August 5, occupying ten days in a trip to Norfolk, Old Point Comfort, Providence, Narragansett Pier, Newport, Boston and Green View. These summer tours have become very popular and the company has been compelled this year to run two trips instead of one as in former seasons.

Duquesne Fishermen Leave Today.

The Duquesne Fishing club of Pittsburgh will leave in special Pullman cars over the Pennsylvania railroad's Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon for Pendang, Ont. The party will include a number of the leading members of the club, which is composed of well known Republican leaders in Pittsburgh. They will spend a couple of weeks fishing in Georgian bay waters, and hunting in the Canadian woods. John P. Hunter is president of the club, and Robert Ostermaier is secretary. Among those who will accompany Messrs. Hunter and Ostermaier will be Thomas J. Ford, Dr. E. E. Walker, A. J. Barnhart, L. L. Davis, W. L. Martin, William Ostermaier, F. J. Kuhner, Thomas G. McClure, Archibald Mackrell, S. J. Wainwright, Jr., E. J. Martin, Samuel Grant, David Handy, F. W. Edwards, Jacob Bowlby, William Henry, David Glass, F. A. Mt. Oliver Physician Is Married.

An event of interest in the Knoxville and Mt. Oliver districts occurred at the Monongahela house last evening. Dr. D. G. Thomas, a well-known young physician of Mt. Oliver, decided that a single or simple life was not exactly the thing for him longer, and took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Josephine Scott of Knoxville. A number of friends were present at the ceremony and wedding dinner at the Monongahela house. The couple left for an eastern trip on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Dancing on Warships.

In the squadron of British warships which Prince Louis of Battenberg will bring to the United States next month there is one vessel, it is said, which has been fitted out especially for dancing purposes. A deck designed exclusively for those who trip the light fantastic toe will afford an abundance of floor space for the dancers. This scheme was tried with success at the recent visit of the British warships to a French port—Brest. A battleship was provided with a dancing deck, and gave great delight to the hundreds of French belles who were invited to the ball.—Baltimore Sun.

CHICAGO'S NAVY CHASES GAMBLERS

ESCAPE TO NEUTRAL PORT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Gamblers intent on playing the races and policemen determined to prevent all race-track betting on Lake Michigan today furnished an exciting struggle between policemen and gamblers. They raced around the lake, first into Michigan waters, then close to the shores of Illinois and then into the jurisdiction of Indiana.

The net result of the day was the capture of 14 weary marine gamblers, who floated ashore at South Chicago in a launch. All of the others, after a hot chase by the police in a fire tug escaped to Indiana Harbor, Ind., and made their way ashore outside of the jurisdiction of the Chicago police.

Chief of Police Collins announced two days ago that he would no longer permit the operation of the floating pool room, City of Traverse. He asserted that he would arrest all men who attempted to board the steamer, saying that they were about to commit an illegal act which brought them within police jurisdiction.

The gamblers circumvented the chief of police at the outset by causing the steamer City of Traverse to be run out into the lake, where she lay all through the morning waiting for the cargo of betters. Large details of police were placed on the shore guarding the approaches to all the docks from which the gamblers might make their way to the lake. It was the expectation of the authorities that the betters would leave Chicago on the City of Traverse, but instead of this a small excursion steamer, the Eagle, had been chartered and the gamblers walking past the police, embarked and started for the City of Traverse, which was rolling aground in mid-lake. The police were powerless to intercept any of the "excursionists" as they called themselves and watched them sail away to place their money on the races.

The announced program of the managers of the floating pool room was that all passengers would be landed at Ninety-second street, South Chicago, where the Calumet river empties into Lake Michigan. Chief Collins, balked in his attempt to prevent the sailing of the gamblers on the Eagle, transferred his forces to Ninety-second street and posted them along the shore in such a manner that it would have been impossible for any man from the City of Traverse, or the Eagle, to set foot on shore and escape arrest. Late in the day, the Eagle steamed into the harbor at South Chicago loaded with 200 men who were anxious to reach shore. As soon as the boat was well in the bridge was swung behind it. With escape to the lake cut off by the bridge and the chance of a safe landing on shore, the case of the gamblers for a time looked desperate. The Eagle circled around in the harbor, tooting its whistle for the bridge to turn and allow the steamer to return to the lake. The police stood on the shore and laughed, feeling confident that it was only a question of time before the passengers of the Eagle would be in their power.

A mud scow came up and whistled for the bridge to open. The bridge tender was compelled to swing the bridge, and the Eagle, planting its bow squarely in the stern of the mud scow, crowded it closely as it passed through the bridge, and then made a run for the open lake.

As soon as the police discovered the approach of the mud scow and realized that the bridge must open they made a rush for the fire tug Yosemite, and by the time the Eagle was entering the waters of the lake, the tug was tearing after it, loaded with policemen. The Eagle headed directly toward the waters which are within the jurisdiction of Indiana with the Yosemite in chase. The Eagle steadily drew away from the tug, and after a run of ten miles the police were forced to give up the chase and return to South Chicago. The Eagle continued its course and landed at Indiana Harbor, where all of its passengers made their way to Chicago by train.

Before the arrival of the Eagle at South Chicago, a launch came in, bearing a number of gamblers from the City of Traverse and several fishermen. All the passengers of the launch were lined up on the pier and compelled to stand in a heavy rain while the police weeded out the fishermen from the "excursionists." Fourteen men, who could not prove that they had been fishing, were loaded into patrol wagons and carried to the police station.

Chief Collins declared tonight that he was disappointed by the escape of the Eagle, but found some comfort in the fact that the passengers in the launch had been gathered in. He declared they would be prosecuted to the fullest extent.

The gamblers who returned to Chicago this evening, declared that the wireless apparatus on the City of Traverse refused to work through the day, and not a message was received and not a bet was made.

BARBER IS KNOCKED DOWN; MONEY AND RAZORS TAKEN

Detectives Riley and Crooks last night arrested Hayes Cunningham, a negro, on charges of larceny and assault and battery on the information of Randolph Williams of 30 Chauncey street, before Magistrate Moke. It is alleged Cunningham and Goldie Mason, also under arrest, held up, assaulted and robbed Williams on Wednesday night at Clark and Fulton streets. Williams' jaw was broken and his lower front teeth knocked out. He is now at the Homeopathic hospital. Williams is a barber and the men knocked him down and took his razors and money from him.

SEES BALL GAME AND DIES SOON AFTERWARD

W. J. Maher, Presumably from Wilkinsburg, Expires in Hospital After Brief Illness.

W. J. Maher, a resident of Wilkinsburg, died last night at the Allegheny General hospital of uraemic poisoning. He was picked up on School street shortly after 5 o'clock last evening, as he was leaving the baseball park. His death occurred at 9 o'clock. Little is known of the man, who was apparently about 50 years of age and well dressed. On his clothes were found some change, a button bearing the insignia of the Knights of Columbus, and a membership card of the Wilkinsburg lodge of Elks. At headquarters of the lodge it was learned last night that Maher was a member there, but aside from this nothing was known of him. Nothing about him indicated his business or place of residence. The body was taken to the morgue.

Frank Mulvehill, aged 5, of 5431 Carnegie avenue, was run over and killed by a sand wagon at Fifty-fifth and Butler streets, yesterday morning. The child was playing in the street and ran in front of the wagon. He was knocked down by the horses and the wagon passed over his breast. James Marshall, the driver, of 326 Forty-second street, was taken to the Forty-third street station house. He insisted the accident was unavoidable. The dead boy's brother was killed by a train two years ago at Fifty-fifth street.

Rosella Aschenbrenner, aged 6, of 19 Singers row, South Side, was killed by a Carnegie car in West Carson street yesterday morning. The child was crossing the street and did not see the car approaching. She was knocked down and dragged under the wheels.

Edward Muse, aged 44, an engineer of 3 Olive street, employed on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was crushed yesterday between his engine and tender in the yards of Jones & Laughlins mills at Soho and died later at the Mercy hospital. He was working between his engine and tender when an ore car was switched down the grade and struck the engine.

John Petsakos, aged 19, a painter, of 608 Fifth avenue, fell 48 feet from a girder while at work in the D. O. Cunningham glass plant, South Twenty-second and Jane streets, yesterday and was killed. He was painting the girder and fell from a swinging scaffold.

Peter Ewan, aged 26, a laborer at Jones & Laughlins Second avenue furnaces, died at Mercy hospital yesterday morning from injuries received by falling 60 feet from a stack a few hours before.

POLLUTION OF STREAMS ENTIRELY UNNECESSARY

Dr. Egbert Says Dumping Sewage in Streams is Inexcusable With Present Day Knowledge.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 3.—State Health Commissioner Dixon today received the report of Dr. Seneca Egbert of Philadelphia, who was detailed to represent the department in the inspection of the sources of pollution of the Schuylkill river. Dr. Egbert says:

"I would respectfully report that practically every source of pollution to the river observed by me is inexcusable at this time, considering the present status of sanitary science, and that all may be removed or very materially improved at an expense that would be comparatively slight in comparison with the many and grave interests involved.

"I appreciate fully, however, that further inspection will have to be made by your department, especially of streams tributary to the Schuylkill and that information must be obtained as to those responsible for the present sources of pollution before you can take the action or actions that you may deem wise or legal under the new law which has been made for the protection of the health of the people of this commonwealth."

A FARMER'S CLOSE CALL.

Found on Engine Pilot After His Horse Is Killed and Buggy Wrecked at Crossing.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Len Dillon, a prominent farmer of New Galilee, had a miraculous escape from death at Enon Valley. Dillon was driving across the Pennsylvania tracks at Hayes crossing when his buggy was struck by an express train.

The train ran some distance before it could be stopped, as its speed at the time of the accident was nearly 60 miles an hour. When the crew ran back they found the horse dead, the buggy crushed and Dillon missing. He was noticed on the pilot of the engine unconscious. His left ear was torn off, but he was otherwise uninjured.

MEN FROM THE COAST.

The reunion and picnic of the California club was held yesterday at Lonfa, the country seat of Mr. W. R. Stephens of Wilkinsburg. Over 200 members of the club, those who have spent a part of their time in California, left Wilkinsburg during the morning. The reunion was continued through the day.

A brass band was in attendance, and many danced on a temporary platform rigged up under the trees. Others played quoits, croquet, tennis and baseball. The lawn surrounding the country home was decorated with flags, bunting and lanterns, and after the lights were turned on presented a pretty appearance. Dinner and supper were spread under the trees.

VICE PRESIDENT HOPES FOR UNION

Mr. Fairbanks Trusts the Proximity of Two Canals May Be Typical of Close Relations.

SOO CELEBRATION IS OVER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH., Aug. 3.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the Soo canal ended here today by a great meeting in the park on the lake front. Vice President Fairbanks was the principal speaker of the day and his address practically ended the celebration.

The day opened with the booming of the sunrise gun at Fort Brady. Almost before its echoes had died away the crowds were on their way to the lake front to secure good vantage points where they could see and hear. The first event of the day was a concert by the Calumet and Hecla band. Following that came the addresses scheduled for the morning exercises.

In the afternoon the principal event was the speech of Vice President Fairbanks. He had entirely recovered from his indisposition of the night before and the effort of speaking did not appear to tire him out greatly. He said:

Mr. Fairbanks' Speech.

The event we commemorate is of mutual interest to the people of the two countries. Here, side by side, are two great locks, one constructed by the United States and the other by the Dominion of Canada. Through them passes interchangeably the commerce of the two countries. Here they will stand in close fellowship for centuries to come, discharging their important functions in the transportation of commerce. We trust they will always be symbolical of the relations and neighborly regard of the two people through whose veins flows the blood of a common ancestry.

There are no fortifications along our common frontier; no battleships upon the waters which divide us. These are not needed now and we trust that in God's Providence they shall never be required. We are the respecters of each other's institutions, of each other's laws, of each other's rights. We are bound to each other by strong social ties and sentiments of mutual respect.

Competition in trade is a vitalizing factor. It is not born of unfriendliness. It has its inspiration in that just self-interest which has been the life of trade from the beginning until now. One of our wisest Americans, William McKinley, whose good name is the precious heritage of the human race, said at Buffalo: "Though commercial competitors we are, commercial enemies we must not be." The national policies of the United States and Canada may not be in accord. If they be not, it will be to no unfriendliness of purpose, but to that sense of duty which each primarily owes to its own.

This canal is identified with the period of our most rapid industrial development. The ever-increasing procession of ships through it tells the story of our expanding production, growing trade and increasing industrial importance. The scepter of commercial power is speedily passing into American control. If we are but true to the vast opportunities which lie at our hands, the United States will become the acknowledged leader in the commerce of the world. The conquest will be achieved by the men of trade and not by the men of war. It will come by a sort of irresistible law of commercial gravity.

May Cement Friendship.

But while we are a commercial people, we are not subservient to commercialism. We seek to expand commerce, as a means, not as an end. We seek its conquests that we may minister to those high aspirations which are the birthright of the Anglo-Saxon race.

It is a gratifying fact that the enormous commerce of the United States upon the great lakes is carried in American ships. The vessels which pass through this canal carrying our products bear the flag of the United States. They were built in our shipyards and are manned by American seamen. When we come to commerce upon the high seas, we largely give over its carriage to ships built abroad and sailed by alien owners. This would seem to be incompatible with a wise national policy.

Other speakers of the day were the Hon. Chase S. Osborne of this city, who delivered the address of welcome to the visitors; the Hon. Peter White of Marquette; Congressman T. E. Burton of Cleveland, chairman of the congressional committee on rivers and harbors; the Hon. Randolph Lemieux, solicitor general of Canada; Gov. Fred M. Warner of Michigan; J. C. Burrows, and the Hon. William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers association. A number of impromptu addresses were also made.

The celebration has been the greatest thing of the kind ever undertaken in Michigan and it is believed it will do much toward cementing the relations between Canada and the United States and assist those who are working for the further improvement of the great inland seas of America.

JEWELS STOLEN FROM HER EARS WHILE ASLEEP

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Margaret Harbison, wife of James I. Harbison, who shot and instantly killed Louis Bergman on July 3, thinks she was drugged last night when she was robbed of diamonds valued at $165 while in her room at the Sherley hotel. She went to bed with them in her ears. Another girl reported a loss of $15.

SEVEN MILLS ON DOLLAR FOR CHADWICK CREDITORS

CLEVELAND, O., August 3.—Creditors of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick will receive a total dividend of about seven mills on the dollar when the matter is finally settled, according to Referee in Bankruptcy Remington. The assets will amount to $25,000, it is expected, against which are claims for attorneys fees and court costs amounting to $10,300, leaving about $14,000 with which to meet $2,000,000 of indebtedness.

Three Houses Burned This Morning.

Fire broke out about 1:30 this morning in a frame house on Bigelow street, in the Greenfield district, and before the flames were extinguished three houses were burned. The fire started in the house vacated a month ago by Jesse Tod. The one next was vacant, while the third was occupied by a man named Steubner and his family, who escaped. The loss is about $3,000.

NO STRIKE EXPECTED IN ANTHRACITE COAL REGIONS

Both President Connell of Conciliation Board and S. E. Warriner of Lehigh Valley Coal Company Take the Optimistic View.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 3.—Neither President W. L. Connell of the conciliation board for the anthracite region, nor S. L. Warriner, general manager of the Lehigh Valley Coal company and a member of the board since its inception, believes there will be a strike of the anthracite miners when the present agreement expires next spring. Each has carefully examined the situation, and Mr. Warriner, in an interview today, told why he did not think there would be a strike. He said:

"The past three years have witnessed the greatest prosperity ever known in the anthracite regions. There has been a total freedom from petty strikes or large strikes; there has been no cessation of work for any cause; the miners have had larger earnings and have participated in the advantages of the high price of coal. About $4,000,000 have been distributed annually to the mine workers through the workings of the sliding scale agreement, in addition to the advantages of increased wages and shorter hours.

"If the report of the strike commission be examined, it will be found that none of the demands of the miners was supported. The recognition of the union was not granted; it was found that the rates of wages compared favorably with other industries where there were the same hours of labor, and so on through the list; not a single demand was found to be well founded on fact. Notwithstanding this, an advance in wages was given and a sliding scale was established, from which the miner benefits by the high price of coal. That agreement or award resulted in this period of great prosperity.

"Now this award was made after a painstaking and thorough investigation into the coal mining industry had been made by the commission of eminent men, appointed by the president of the United States. Their decision was a fair and unbiased one, and it seems to me to be ill-advised to talk of upsetting these conditions. The general business conditions have not materially changed since that time. There is no more warrant for an increase of wages now than then. The price of living has not increased to any extent since 1902; the general conditions are the same.

"The demands of the miners are not worrying the companies a great deal. They seem to be worrying the miners more than anyone else. It is good strategy on the part of the mine workers' officials to talk of the possible necessity for a strike in April and formulate demands, for by this means they can induce their members to pay up their dues and get back into the organization, but aside from this, I think they will have no effect."

PICKERING'S

HAVE GOOD

Refrigerators

It is a proud record that our refrigerator has made for itself, having taken the first prize in every exhibition in which it has been shown, as well as having been chosen by Uncle Sam for use in the Navy, especially upon gunboats during the Spanish War, where the thermometer always registers greater heat than is ever known aboard other ships of any nature whatever. This refrigerator is the only one that by actual test has been found to be perfectly moisture proof. It is filled with granulated cork, which is the best non-conductor of heat known to science, and has a lining of galvanized steel that is far superior to any zinc lining used.

Apart from these reasons, this refrigerator appeals to every housewife because of the common sense methods employed in building it.

THE DRIP PIPE IS SO EASILY REMOVED

that a child could take it out. This provision is made for the sake of cleanliness. Then, instead of the drip pipe emptying at the back, a drain trough is in the bottom of the refrigerator which conducts the water to the front, where it is carried through the trap. It is easy to comprehend what a blessing it is to have the waste pan in front where it is easily reached.

THE TRAP IS AN AUTOMATIC ONE

and as easily cleaned as anything that could be taken apart in the hand. Some of the refrigerators are fitted with drinking water compartments as well. A faucet and tumbler holder are arranged on the outside of these especial boxes to add to the convenience, as well as the attractive appearance. For the fastidious housewife, we have some of these refrigerators lined with tile, while others have the pretty opal finish in the provision chamber. As for the outside, these splendid boxes come made up in oak and in other hard woods, with fine locks that close easily and stay closed.

We are the sole agents in Pittsburgh for this celebrated refrigerator and we are proud of the fact as well as of its name, for we really feel, after all the tests to which it has been subjected throughout the ten years that we have exploited it, that this box is really the most reliable of all ice boxes. Prices are $6.50 to $75.00

We have these refrigerators in all sizes and kinds for the home as well as for butchers, grocers, caterers, florists, clubs and for every other use to which a refrigerator can be put.

THERE ARE OTHER REFRIGERATORS

of which we are very proud, and of which we should like to write. We have them developed in the richest of woods and in the opal and nickel, as cool, clean and elegant in appearance. The refrigerator that is made to resemble an elegant cabinet, to be used in the tiny apartment where scarcely anything is what it seems to be, is to be found in our stock in its most fastidious form. Prices are $30.00 to $125.00.

NILES WILL BOLT PART OF TICKET

DENOUNCES SENATOR PENROSE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.

H. C. Niles of York, who failed to have the Republicans of his county censure the state organization at the recent convention, now announces his intention to oppose J. Lee Plummer, the party nominee for state treasurer. Mr. Niles, since the Republican state leaders twice refused to indorse him for a superior court vacancy, has been trying to make trouble. He did not support the Republican congressional candidate in his district, and the election of Congressman Lafean was in no particular owing to his assistance. Mr. Niles' statement follows:

"I'm assured that there are already several hundred independent partiotic Republicans in this county pledged to vote against J. Lee Plummer, the candidate for the treasurership of this state, and the subservient tool of the Durham-Penrose gangs. These Republicans, if the reform resolution would have been adopted in the county convention, would have been enthusiastic supporters of the Republican county ticket. I hope that they will nevertheless assist in the election of the most excellent ticket nominated yesterday and I shall do all I can toward that end, while also doing all I can with them to defeat Plummer for treasurer.

"I have spent much time in inquiry concerning Mr. Berry, the Democratic candidate for the state treasuryship, and believe him to be a capable, high-minded and patriotic man as anyone could wish. It is one of the providential things about this whole reform movement in Pennsylvania that such a man as Mr. Berry should be the Democratic nominee at this time."

The Death Roll.

Gen. James R. Carnahan.

Gen. James R. Carnahan, major general of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, died yesterday at his home in Indianapolis, after an illness of two weeks. He was born at Dayton, Ind., November 18, 1841. At the outbreak of the civil war he joined the late Gen. Lew Wallace's Zouaves as a private. He later joined the Eighty-sixth Indiana regiment, to which he remained attached throughout the war. After the war he studied law and practiced a number of years at Lafayette. He joined the Knights of Pythias in 1874 at Lafayette, went through all the chairs and was elected grand chancellor of Indiana in 1880. He was regarded as the founder of the uniform rank, and in 1884 was elected its first major general, which position he held at the time of his death. He was past department commander of the G. A. R. and a prominent candidate for national commander at one time. He was appointed a member of the visiting committee to West Point military academy last year by President Roosevelt, and delivered an address there. He leaves a widow and three daughters. One of the daughters is Mrs. R. G. Ashbrook of Cleveland. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the city and state uniform rank of Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. Anna E. Ferguson Roberts.

Mrs. Anna E. Ferguson Roberts, aged 62, widow of John M. Roberts, and an aunt of Mrs. John G. A. Leishman, wife of the minister to Turkey, died yesterday morning at her home, 5514 Walnut street, after a week's illness following a slight cold. Mrs. Roberts was born in Pittsburgh and lived the greater portion of her life in the Ninth ward. She married John M. Roberts, who was for many years a bookkeeper in the employ of the Pittsburgh Gas Company before its consolidation with the Philadelphia company. She was a member of the First Christian church, and was an earnest church worker. Her only son, D. B. Roberts, died eight years ago. She leaves a foster daughter, Anna E. Johnston, and a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Ferguson of Mt. Vernon, O.

Phillip Schmitt.

Philip Schmitt, aged 57, died yesterday morning at his home, 2919 Penn avenue. Mr. Schmitt was born in Gorheim, Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, and came to this country in 1868, settling in Allegheny, where he followed the trade of baker. He was twice married, his first wife, who was a Miss Catharine Kunkle of Allegheny, died 16 years ago. After engaging in the confectionery business in Allegheny for several years Mr. Schmitt moved to 2919 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, in 1887, where he has since conducted his business. Several years after the death of his first wife he married Miss Catharine Keller of Bloomfield, who, together with six children by his first wife—Edward, Annie, Millie, Laura, Alma and Mrs. Ida McKee—survive him.

Walter C. Stollberger.

Walter Crawford Stollberger, aged 26, died at the home of his parents, 1826 Noble street, Sharpsburg, yesterday morning, after a lingering illness. He was born in Sharpsburg and lived all his life in the borough. He was a member of the Union Centenary Methodist Episcopal church of Sharpsburg, of the F. H. Collier Camp, Sons of Veterans, and the Sharpsburg and Etna Y. M. C. A. He was a stationery engineer by occupation and single in life. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stollberger, a brother, William, and a sister, Mrs. Daniel Unks.

Mrs. Sarah Lee.

Mrs. Sarah Lee died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie E. Zimmerman in Butler. She was born 86 years ago in Pittsburgh, her father being the late William Gibson. She was first married to Charles Lewis Ritter and moved to Butler. After his death she married Dr. Samuel McKnight Lee, whom she also survived nearly 30 years. Mrs. Lee was a member of the United Presbyterian church. She leaves three children—William H. Ritter, Mrs. Mary E. Brown and Mrs. Jennie E. Zimmerman, all of Butler.

Mrs. Cordelia Edmundson.

Mrs. Cordelia Edmundson, aged 67, widow of John W. Edmundson, died Wednesday evening at her home, 228 Charles street, Knoxville, after a lingering illness. She was a lifelong member of the First Presbyterian church of McKeesport. She is survived by a son and five daughters—William Edmundson and Mrs. J. A. Calhoun of McKeesport, Mrs. Otis A. Hollis and the Misses Alice, Mary and Annie Edmundson.

Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson.

Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, aged 85, widow of J. W. Robinson, died yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Burns, 124 Grant avenue, Bellevue, after a week's illness. She was born in Washington county but spent most of her life in this vicinity. She was a member of the United Presbyterian church, and leaves two sons, Hugh A., of St. Louis, and Henry V. of Glenfield, and one daughter, Mrs. Luella Burns.

Obituary Notes.

John Hey, aged 81, died at New Castle, Pa., yesterday at midnight, while visiting his son, Samuel E. Hey, of that city. He was born in England, but lived in this country 40 years.

Mrs. Rosanna Craft died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Duff, in Punxsutawney, aged 73. She was the mother of Mrs. John Reed of Falls Creek, and John Craft of Reynoldsville.

William L. Berum, aged 30, foreman of No. 2 mines above Carnegie, died Wednesday at his home, 26 Borough street, Glendale. He leaves his wife, who was Miss Tillie Meiser, several children and his mother.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bolger, widow of John Bolger, died last night at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. P. Mohan, 360 Elm street, Butler, Pa. She was born in Ireland, and in 1855 went to Pittsburgh. She is survived by four children; Cornelius, proprietor of a grocery store in Pittsburgh; Edward and Hugh, also of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. M. P. Mohan of Butler.

PRESIDENT DOESN'T WANT HIS PICTURE IN THE VOLUME

Nevertheless He Writes Courteous Note to Mrs. Wade Hampton, With Whom Misunderstanding Occurred Over "Fads and Fancies."

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—President Roosevelt has written a letter to Mrs. Wade Hampton in reply to a note from her deploring the misunderstanding about his photograph and "Fads and Fancies." Mrs. Hampton said, in part, in her letter:

"You were so kind and so lovely to me that not for a moment did I suppose I was abusing your confidence."

The president wrote:

My Dear Madam—You need not feel badly at all about causing me any annoyance, for your explanation of the matter was so frank and straightforward as to put the whole thing right, and I have not felt it necessary for me to say anything more. I have no power to prevent people writing about me whatever they choose, and then there are hundreds of photographs of mine of all kinds, which can be obtained everywhere, and which appear in every sort of publication.

It must be distinctly understood, however, that I, of course, give no authorization for either picture or article, and in this particular case I would very much prefer if nothing whatever about me appeared, and hope nothing will appear.

Sincerely Yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

BUTLER HOSPITAL FLOODED.

Big Water Tank Bursts and Sleeping Nurse Is Almost Drowned in the Deluge.

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—A 250-barrel water tank placed on top of a pumping house over a water well recently drilled on a hill at the rear of the Butler county hospital, broke down its supports yesterday and fell on the pump house, knocking out the bottom of the tank.

A deluge of water rushed down the hillside into both floors of the hospital annex. Miss Klein, a nurse, who was in bed asleep, was covered with water for a short time and nearly drowned. The damage amounted to several hundred dollars.

TEMPERANCE UNION DISCUSSES PAPERS

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—This morning's session of the Women's Christian Temperance union convened in Ridgeway park opened with a devotional conference. A discussion regarding the work and objects of the union was conducted by the presidents of the various counties, the local presidents and others followed. An article entitled "The Press" was read by Miss M. J. Trout. Mrs. S. J. Patterson of Allegheny read an important paper on the legislative and legal questions connected with the work of the union. Mrs. T. H. Sawhill discussed railroad work, and Miss Bertha Bothnell, the work of the flower mission.

GARFIELD'S CLASSMATE HAS A ROMANCE

KENT, O., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Rev. Frank M. Green and Mrs. Sybil Wright were married today. They are both 68 years old and are among the best-known people of the Western Reserve. Mr. Green has been a minister of the Disciple church for 50 years. He was a classmate of Garfield and wrote a biography of the martyred president. He is also historian of Hiram college and vice president of its board of trustees. He and his new wife have been friends for 40 years and 23 years ago he officiated at her marriage to her former husband.

DEPOSED PRESIDENT FAVORED BY CARRIERS

YORK, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The state convention of the Rural Free Delivery Carriers' association, which closed their proceedings here today defeated resolutions supporting the postal department in its action in dismissing National President Cuhningham and adopted resolutions by substitution which virtually favored the deposed national president. A meeting to instruct the delegates to the next national convention of the association was also defeated. T. S. Snyder of York county, was elected president of the association to serve for the ensuing year.

SEEKS DETECTIVE WANTED FOR ITALIAN'S DEATH

Succumbs to His Injuries.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 3.—Col. George W. Patton, a prominent attorney of this city, died here today as a result of injuries sustained on July 14 last in the explosion of natural gas in the record vault at the court house. Clerk Saunders died two days after the explosion. Col. Patton was aged 74 and was a native of Lewistown, Pa.

MAD DOG SCARES MANY.

Animal Upsets Stove and Chairs and Frightens All He Meets.

There was a mad dog scare in Penn avenue in the vicinity of the "Little Market," near Thirteenth street, yesterday. The dog was a large yellow cur, first seen in the Adams Express Company's stables in Liberty avenue. He ran to Penn avenue, entered the barroom of P. A. Regan at 1326 Penn avenue, about 1:30 p. m. He passed through and into the dining room, where several people were seated. The dog upset a stove there and frightned the people, and from there to the kitchen, where he knocked over a couple of chairs. He ran into the rear yard and then into a house fronting in Spring alley, to which he made his way. He caused a panic wherever he went and scattered a lot of children playing in the alley.

In his flight toward Twelfth street the dog knocked a woman down and fell exhausted, frothing at the mouth. A driver for the express company caught him by the scruff of the neck and placed him in a stall, and he will be shot if he is not better today.

NEW MEMBER OF BOARD.

Cotton Scandal at Washington Quiets Down Until Grand Jury Completes Its Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Victor H. Olmsted, who was appointed associate statistician of the department of agriculture to succeed Edwin S. Holmes, dismissed, will be made a member of the permanent estimating board. Mr. Olmsted is now serving on the temporary board.

The grand jury met today, but without taking up the cotton crop report leakage, adjourned till tomorrow. After tomorrow's sitting an adjournment of two weeks will be taken.

Contracts Are Authorized.

West Homestead council met last night in special session, but Chairman Walter Terrell declared the meeting illegal owing to an irregularity in the call. Terrell and Councilman Walters left the meeting, but the remaining five councilmen organized and elected C. J. Mesta chairman. They then authorized the burgess to let contracts for street paving. Contractor Erbec, who will get the contract, agrees to take the West Homstead bond issue in payment.

Not an Editor's Trousers.

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Frank Lohr, employed as marker at the Latrobe laundry, while sorting clothes today found $240 in the pocket of a pair of trousers belonging to Dr. Updegraff of Boliver, who is a patron of the laundry.

DROWNS WHILE AT PLAY.

Eight-Year-Old Boy Falls Into Reservoir While Building a Raft to Navigate It.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—After a search that lasted since yesterday evening, Charles Beck, a well-known resident of Arnold, found the body of his 8-year-old son Charles in the reservoir of the Kingston Water company, which is located on the hill above the Beck home.

He went to the reservoir alone and attempted to construct a raft. Some rope he used to tie the boards together with was tangled about him when he was making a struggle for life after falling into the water.

ROBBERIES FREQUENT IN NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Robberies are becoming epidemic here and today four were reported which occurred but recently, but were not made public at the time. Robbers entered Sotus & Company's candy factory. A small amount of change and some candy was stolen.

Recently robbers entered the City roller mills and ransacked the office, but found little money. Joseph Deep, a confectionery merchant, has been twice robbed by a flim-flam game, losing $40 the first time and $60 the second. The robbers are uncaptured.

GREAT CROWDS ATTEND METHODIST REUNION

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The Methodists of Central Pennsylvania held their annual reunion at Lakemont park today and it was attended by fully 15,000 people. The exercises were enjoyed by large audiences and given enthusiastic attention. The Rev. W. P. Eveland, the new president of Dickinson seminary, at Williamsport, delivered the morning address and Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald of Baltimore, a leading pulpit orator of the country, delivered the principal afternoon address. The musical program of the occasion was a feature.

JUDGE PORTER OPPOSES GRADE CROSSINGS

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Grade crossings will not hereafter be permitted in this county by Judge Porter where it is possible to avoid them. In handing down decisions today upon request of the Allegheny & Western railroad for four grade crossings in Slippery Rock township, for the new extension now being constructed from Butler to this city, Judge Porter ruled against two of them absolutely. The other two will be permitted, provided the railroad maintains guard gates and a signal system.

MANY ATTEND M'NARY FAMILY REUNION

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The annual reunion of the famous McNary family of Washington county was held today in the United Presbyterian church at Houston, a few miles north of here. More than 350 members of the clan from various parts of the country were present. A lengthy program was carried out. The Rev. D. L. McNary was elected chairman of the gathering and Thomas McNary of Allegheny, secretary. A permanent organization is to be effected.

SCIENCE WINNING ON PANAMA CANAL

American Methods Rob Yellow Fever of Its Terror and Bring Health to the Zone.

WATER PLUGS ARE A SURPRISE

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Official information regarding the conditions in the canal zone, and on the isthmus of Panama generally, shows a decided change for the better since the canal passed from French hands. That nation was without the latest scientific knowledge which has done much to alleviate the suffering and danger from yellow and other fevers and it almost looks as if the commission's prediction that the place could be made as healthful as Pensacola or New Orleans would ultimately be realized.

For instance, in 1881 the French reported an average force on the isthmus of 927 men, with a death rate of 65.8 per thousand and in Ancan hospital the deaths from yellow fever alone were 22.7 per thousand. During the past three months the death rate among the 19,009 employes and the unnumbered non-employes, has been but 2.5 per thousand, or an annual rate of less than 10 per thousand. To put it differently, there were 26 deaths from fever in the course of these three months, and of this number only 15 were employes, making an annual death rate among this class of but 6 per thousand.

The cases of fever diminished from 72 in June to 28 in July, and it is claimed that this decrease is largely due, if not wholly so, to the efforts of the sanitary officers, who are applying as rapidly as possible the results of the lessons learned in the subjugation of the disease in Cuba, following the Spanish war.

An important factor in the work of the sanitary officers has been the installation of a plentiful supply of pure water. In Panama the water was turned on July 4 last and there was a general celebration. Half pressure on a six-inch main gave 12 streams which were thrown over the top of the administration building, a spectacle which must have been amazing in a country where water ordinarily is seen no higher in the air than one may throw it from a bucket.

It is affirmed that yellow fever is not indigenous to the isthmus and that proper precautions and regulations in regard to sanitary conditions can make it as salubrious as the cities of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

BURNS RESTAURANT TENT.

Believed to Be Work of Man Who Owed Board Bill.

What is thought to have been an attempt to burn the lunchroom and boarding house of Edward Kamm, at the Pittsburgh filtration plant camp, near Aspinwall, early yesterday morning, resulted in the burning of a large tent used as a restaurant. The tent is said to have been saturated with kerosene and a can of kerosene thrown into the flames, causing an explosion.

The fire was discovered shortly after midnight, and a man was seen running away from the place toward Aspinwall. The flames were extinguished only after the tent had burned to the ground, but the boarding house, against which the tent was built, was saved. Twenty-five men were sleeping in the house. The fire is thought to have been the spite work of a man who had been refused meals on account of owing a bill for board.

THE PIRATES PUT A STOP TO GIANTS' WINNING STREAK

PITCHERS ARE BADLY BUMPED

Pirates Land on McGinnity and Wiltse, While Giants Take to Leever's Curves.

FINE VICTORY FOR LOCALS

The Pirates started in yesterday to break the Giants' winning streak, and they made a good job of it, taking the second game of the series 10 to 4. Prior to yesterday the champions had won 18 straight games and the visitors will now agree that the is hoodoo is all that it is cracked up to be.

The game, while a little long in being played, was one of the most brilliant of the season, and abounded in all sorts of sensational plays, in which both sides contributed. What was the most brilliant play of the afternoon and without doubt the most sensational of the season was the one which wound up the contest and was contributed by Tommy Leach. Mertes, the Giants' husky left fielder, was at bat, and he landed fairly on one of Flaherty's curves and started it on a line for the fence in middle field. Leach, who was covering that position, started in for the ball, but, finding he was misjudging, he turned and fled in the opposite direction, running with the flight of the ball.

Within 10 yards of the fence Leach turned and, seeing the ball was beyond his reach, jumped high into the air and hit the flying sphere with his hand, thus stopping its flight. As the ball descended the little middle fielder clutched it and the out was made and the game ended. Had that ball ever got away from Leach it would have been a sure home run, and once the Giants got a start of that kind there is no telling where they would have stopped. The crowd of 7,240 spectators, which was ready to leave the park, stopped long enough to pay its compliments to the maker of the play.

The game was a beauty from all points, as the players on both sides were out for a victory and there was not a point that was missed. The high-class character of the play was shown by the fact that there was not an error on either side and all sorts of hard chances were offered and accepted. This great showing was all the more creditable when it is considered how hard the pitchers were hit. Dahlen and Gilbert were the busiest of the Giants, accepting 11 chances between them without a slip, while Mike Donlin was kept busy in the outfield and had some hard chances to take care of. For the Pirates Wagner, Brain and Ritchey in the infield and Leach and Clarke in the outfield were the stars.

Four pitchers were used during the contest, each side changing after the seventh inning because of the heavy hitting. "Iron Man" McGinnity started in for the Giants and for five innings he was a complete puzzle, but two hits, both of them singles, being made in that time. In the sixth, however, the Pirates got going with their bats and for the next two innings the ball was pounded all over the field and five runs were scored. That was enough for Manager McGraw, who decided on a change, and Left-hander Wiltse was sent to the rescue, and his reception was warmer than the one given the "Iron Man." To help matters along from the local standpoint, Wiltse was very wild, contributing two bases on balls and a wild pitch. These, with three hits, a single and two doubles, netted five runs.

Leever started in to do the twirling for the Pirates, and he, too, was lifted out of the game after the seventh inning, as the Giants showed a fondness for his curves, which was not pleasing to Manager Clarke or the army of rooters. Leever got a bad start and before he could settle down to real work the visitors had chased two runs over the plate as a result of a two-bagger by Browne, a three-base hit by Donlin and a single by McGann. After the first inning the Schoolmaster got to working in his proper form and for the next five innings the Giants' hits were few and far between. In the seventh, however, the visitors got going again, when a single by Donlin, a two-bagger by Mertes and a three-base hit to deep left by Dahlen netted them their other two runs. Flaherty took up the burden in the eighth and the visitors could get but one hit off his delivery.

It was the sixth inning before the Pirates could get their bats to working properly, and when they tied the score the big crowd was almost wild with delight. With one out in the sixth, Clymer singled; Leach sacrificed and Clarke followed suit. Tommy Leach kept the excitement going by a safe drive, on which Clymer scored and Clarke reached third. Clarke scored on Wagner's fly-out to Mertes. Brain started the seventh inning with a single and Ritchey also singled. Both runners were advanced on a passed ball and both scored when Clymer laced the ball to middle field for a safety. Clarke followed with a drive to deep middle for three bases, scoring Clymer, but Fred was out at the plate trying to stretch the hit into a home run.

Wiltse took McGinnity's place in the eighth inning and his first act was to pass Leach to first. Wagner sent a single to middle and Leach, by fine base running, took third on the hit, while Wagner went to second on the play to catch Tommy. Wiltse filled the bases by walking Howard. Brain chopped the ball high enough to allow Devlin to touch it with his finger tips and the hit counted for two bases, Leach and Wagner scoring. A passed ball scored Howard and a wild pitch enabled Brain to reach third, from which point he scored on a double to left by Ritchey. On Peitz's out at first Ritchey scored the fifth run of the inning.

The one incident to mar the pleasure of the game happened in the third inning, when McGann tried to go from first to third on a single by Mertes. Wagner broke the hit down and secured the ball back to second base and made the throw to catch McGann at third. The Giant's big first-baseman went into the base feet first and his spikes caught Brain on the leg. This started a row and the Pirate made an effort to go after McGann, but other players interfered and a scene was averted. The spectators, however, did not forget to let the Giant hear from them in a very uncomplimentary manner. The score:

BROKE UP THE GAME.

Luna park has a baseball device last night whereby one could test his batting strength. It will probably have another tonight, but the one of last night is out of commission. Hans Wagner, the sturdy member of the Pittsburgh team, is responsible for the disarrangement of Luna's miniature ball field. He batted a ball all the way through the scenery last night, and the game went to the bad. The ball shot from his bat with such force as to rip the entire scenery from the rear of the miniature field, and the ball was never found after Hans rapped it.

The entire membership of the Pittsburgh and New York ball clubs were at Luna last night as the guests of General Manager Ingersoll. They shot the chutes, went through Mystic river, rode on the scenic railway, took in the trail, and did all sorts of stunts to the delight of the "fans" who were present in great numbers, and helped entertain the Pirates and the Giants. The baseball game was pregnant with interest for the ball tossers, and afforded them much amusement until big Hans put it out of commission.

CLEVELAND IN BAD SHAPE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Philadelphia defeated Detroit today by one run in a spirited contest. Mullen pitched good ball until the seventh inning when, with the bases full, he gave a base on balls, sending in the run that tied the score. A moment later a single sent in the winning run. Both teams fielded well. Attendance 5,988. The score:

Boston 5—Cleveland 0.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—Tannehill pitched a three-hit game today, while Boston bunched hits off Hess and won 5 to 0. The visitors' pitching condition was increased when Bernhard's pitching hand was injured by a batted ball and he withdrew. In both infield and outfield makeshifts were presented. Cleveland's crippled list now includes Lajoie, Bay, Kahl, Stovall, Bernhard, Joss and Rhoades. Word was received today from Cleveland that Lajoie and Stovall will not join the team until next week, and that Lajoie will be unable to resume play before August 20. Score:

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. CROSKEY yesterday afternoon issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma V. Croskey, and William M. Bell, Mr. Bell and his bride are now in New York and will sail tomorrow on the Finland for their wedding trip. They will be abroad until the latter part of September, and on their return to Pittsburgh will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Croskey in South Atlantic avenue, Shadyside, where they will be at home Tuesdays after October 1. Mr. Bell is connected with the brokerage firm of William M. Bell & Co., Fourth avenue. It was a very pretty home wedding yesterday at noon and the guests were limited to the members of the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom, covers at the wedding breakfast which followed the ceremony being laid for 14. The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. C. M. Miller, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Tarentum, an intimate friend of the family of the bride. There were no attendants and immediately after the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Bell left for the east. The decorations were pretty and the appointments for the wedding exquisite. In the parlor there was just a hint of color in the pink asters, the wedding colors being pink and white. Across the hall the library was decorated with flaming red gladiolas, while in the dining room, where the breakfast was served, asparagus plumosa with clusters of delicate white flowers tied with a huge bow of pink ribbon wreathed the chandelier, upon the table beneath being a long center-piece of pink gladiolas, ferns and asparagus entwined with pink chiffon.

Pittsburghers to Join House Party.

Miss Jean Stone of North avenue, Allegheny, with Miss Alice Thomas and Miss Ray Thomas of Lang avenue, East End, will leave here on August 10 to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Croskey Bryden of Somerset. Mr. and Mrs. Bryden are now at their summer place in Frostburg, Md., where they expect to entertain a house party of men and girls for a couple of weeks. At the conclusion of her visit with the Brydens Miss Stone will be the guest of Miss Ethel Calder and Miss Kelker of Harrisburg for a time. During her absence her sister, Mrs. Percy Hickling, Dr. Hickling and their children will come from their home in Washington, D. C., to keep open the home in North avenue. Mrs. W. A. Stone, with the two younger daughters, Miss Isabel Stone and Miss Margaret Stone, is still abroad, and have not yet decided whether to remain in Europe during the winter. The three travelers are now in Switzerland, where they will remain until after the famous fete of the vineyarders in Vevey. The two girls will study in Paris this winter.

Entertaining in Oakmont.

Mrs. Gustave A. Mueller of Oakmont has invitations out for a luncheon which she will give next Thursday at noon to meet Mrs. Ernest Edward Jones and Mrs. L. L. Little, new residents of the borough.

Mrs. M. Scott Verner's luncheon and euchre will be the principal event of interest in Oakmont's social world today. Six-hand euchre is to be played in the morning, the games to be followed by luncheon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Olaf Pihl and her mother, Mrs. O. C. G. Mellbye, and Miss Auvert, all of Norway, will share the honors and about 35 guests will be present.

Harbisons Home from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Harbison of Brighton road, Allegheny, came home yesterday from New York, after having returned from Europe aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm the day previous. They spent six weeks abroad visiting the small towns of England, Scotland and Wales, and will leave tonight for Muskoka lake, Canada, there to remain during the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Harbison, it will be remembered, came here as a bride in April. She was formerly Miss Harris of Toronto, Can.

Sefton-Reid.

One of the most prettily appointed weddings of the season was that of Miss Carrie Sefton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sefton, to the Rev. Alex B. Reid of Albia, Iowa, at the home of the bride in East Ninth avenue, Tarentum, last evening. The Rev. A. J. Hazlett, brother-in-law of the bride, performed the ceremony. Miss Edna Sefton, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Wilson Reid, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Masters James and Frank Sefton, nephews of the bride, were the ribbon bearers. After the ceremony an informal reception was held, and the couple left on a short wedding trip. On their return they will remain in Tarentum about one week and will then leave for Iowa.

Summering at Walled Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. David Arnheim of California Avenue, Allegheny, and the younger members of their family, who have been summering at Walled Lake, Mich., will return to their city home in a fortnight. Plans will then be made for the marriage of Miss Lula Arnheim, a daughter of the house, and Benjamin Zeigler, also of the North Side. A date in September will be selected for the event.

Will Study Music Abroad.

Henry D. Russell of Wilkinsburg will sail from New York on August 15 aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm. He will go direct to Germany to enter the Royal Conservatory of Music in Leipsic. His father, Robert Russell, Jr., will accompany him as will Emil Zoller of Allegheny, who also goes abroad to enter the conservatory.

Where Some Pittsburghers Are.

Miss Lena Witt and Miss Maria Witt, their brother, and H. W. Klein, are making a short visit at Niagara Falls. Early in September Miss Maria Witt will sail for Europe on the steamer Brandenburg.

Mrs. E. L. Kramer of Penn avenue left recently for Cambridge Springs where she will spend a couple of weeks.

Lawn Fete in Sewickley.

A lawn fete will be given in the Association park, Sewickley, this evening by the members of the Sewickley Troop band. Ice cream, cake, candy, lemonade, etc., will be served, elaborate booths having been prepared. R. E. White, leader of the band, is in charge, and a number of women will assist. In case of rain the affair will be given tomorrow evening.

Hay Ride to Woodlawn.

Miss Katherine Kirn of Sewickley will entertain with a hay ride on Friday evening, August 18. Invitations having been issued to 24. The party will ride to "Woodlawn," the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Linn, parents of the hostess, which is across the river from Economy, where the evening will be spent.

Date Set for Wedding.

Thursday, September 7, is the date set for the wedding of Minnie Eva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd Patterson of Winfield street, East End, to John Graff Youngson, who for a number of years has been connected with the Homestead steel works.

Green-Speedy Engagement.

Formal announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. E. Green of Plumville, Pa., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah Green, and Moody A. Speedy of the East End. The wedding will be a pretty event of the early fall.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—As it was the rallying day of the C. L. S. C. delegates from circles in all parts of the country are here to take part in the exercises. A meeting of C. L. S. C. delegates was held in the amphitheater when Bishop Vincent, Dr. W. H. Hickman and Dr. C. Stanley Hall told entertainingly of the significance of this great organization.

Dr. Herbert Welch conducted the devotional hour. Dr. Richard Burton gave his fourth lecture on "Modern Masters of Literature," in which he talked of George Meredith, a thinker in fiction.

Late in the afternoon the C. L. S. C. held a reception in the grove at the rear of the Aula Christi, an ideal place for an out-of-door meeting of representatives of every state, all interested in a common subject. Music lovers enjoyed the recital given by Dr. Carl Duffi.

A reception was given by the Willard federated W. C. T. U. to the national officers and members of the executive committee, who are: Mrs. Susana M. D. Fry, national corresponding secretary; Mrs. Helen L. Bulloch, Mrs. Emilie D. Martin, Mrs. B. T. Vincent, Mrs. Harriet Hollingshead, Mrs. Frances W. Leiter, Mrs. Maria C. Weed, Mrs. Jean M. Hyde and Miss Rena Mosser.

An interpretative recital, which attracted an audience of several thousand, was given by Prof. S. H. Clark on "Richard III."

A smoker at the Athletic club house was enjoyed by the male portion of the visitors in the evening.

FIGURING ON SETTLEMENT.

Santo Domingo's Assets Pilling Up and Uncle Sam, Receiver, Figures on Paying Creditors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Mr. Dawson, American minister to Santo Domingo, expects to sail for his post August 16. Meanwhile he will meet Prof. Hollander, the special financial expert sent to Santo Domingo by the president to collect data for a final adjustment of the Dominican international indebtedness.

The money derived from the customs at the Dominican ports is accumulating in one of the great New York banks, and it is necessary, if the protocol made last spring is to be executed, that congress make some early provision for its disbursement among the creditor powers.

To Establish New Milk Station.

The Bellevue Auxiliary of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Sterilized Milk and Ice society met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank T. East, Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, to consider the application of the funds arising from the lawn fete held in Bellevue last week. It was decided to establish a station for the free distribution of milk and ice in the Woods Run district. The station will be at the Woods Run industrial home in Hanover street, Allegheny. More than $60 were cleared at the lawn fete.

Lawn Fete in Wilkinsburg.

Hundreds attended the lawn fete on the grounds of St. James' Roman Catholic church, Mulberry and Franklin streets, Wilkinsburg, last night. Among the features were moving pictures and a fish pond. The booths were tastefully decorated with bunting and Japanese lanterns, and were in charge of the ladies' sodality. The fete will be continued tonight, and as it is the 36th anniversary of Father Lambing's ordination, the occasion is doubly eventful.

Loomis Tired and Will Take Rest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A mail advice received here from Assistant Secretary Loomis, written before his departure from Europe for New York, states that he has been considerably fatigued by his efforts in connection with the shipping of Paul Jones' body to this country and will take a vacation before resuming his official duties.

Excellence and Elegance.

Mr. C. T. Bell, general passenger and ticket agent of the Grand Trunk railway system, is frequently in receipt of communications from patrons eulogizing the service that is found on Canada's great double track railway. An unsolicited letter of recent date reads as follows:

"I have just returned from the Pacific coast and it may interest you to know that my wife and I immensely enjoyed the run over your road, and you must admit that when a woman is pleased and delighted, she receives something that has the classic touch of excellence and elegance. I am inclined to think that the railroad that pleases a woman is pretty near perfection."

Another letter from a physician of Aiken, South Carolina, reads:

"I had the pleasure of traveling over your line from Portland, Me., to Detroit, Mich., and have no hesitation in saying that your roadbed is one of the smoothest I have ever been on and the night from Montreal to Toronto, the train was as steady as if one had been in a hotel."

The travel over the Grand Trunk is increasing every year and as the excellence of this railroad is becoming known more and more, travelers from all parts are taking the opportunity of riding on the fast trains which this line is noted for in Canada and over their double track route between the principal cities of the east and west.

Among the Clubs.

Tourists Will Be in Russia.

The year books of the Tourists' club have just come from Boston, Mass., where they were printed under the direction of Miss Irene McDermott, who has been spending the summer there. The books present the outline of the work of the club for the coming year. The literary programs will be devoted to "Russia and the Russians." President's day will be observed October 9. A large portion of the membership of the Tourists' club is composed of musicians, well-known professionals and amateurs. Several of them prefer to be associate members, but the majority are active, and during the winter there will be two special afternoons when the literary programs will be set aside and musicales substituted. The special musical days will be December 4 and March 5. The officers of the Tourists are: Mrs. Archibald Alexander MacLachlan, president; Mrs. John Cowley, vice president; Miss Louise Loy, secretary; Miss Marion Faber Gaston, treasurer. The program committee is composed of Miss Irene Elizabeth McDermott, chairman; Miss Mary D. Lecky, Mrs. M. D. Lichliter, Miss Louise Loy and Miss Mary Olive Duncan. The meetings of the club will be held in the home of the Business Women's club, Arch street, Allegheny, fortnightly, commencing October 9.

New Milk and Ice Station.

The Bellevue branch of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Milk and Ice association expects to open a distributing station in the Woods Run Industrial Home, Petrel street, near Kerr, on Monday of next week. A meeting of the branch was held yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Frank East, Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, which was attended by a large number of women from Bellevue, Avalon and Ben Avon. The committees in charge of the recent Japanese garden party reported the returns, the net proceeds amounting to $600. This will be used to equip the new station. This morning Mrs. East and Miss Edna Hemphill will purchase the equipment, which will consist of refrigerator and ice box for the storing of the milk and ice which will be for sale to those who can purchase it, but given free to those who need it and are not able to buy it, and who present a physician's certificate or order from Dr. Amelia Dranga, the medical director of the association.

Planning Work for Winter.

The entertainment committee of the Wimodausis club informally discussed plans for the coming winter yesterday afternoon at the watermelon luncheon which Mrs. James M. Sprague gave in her home in Rebecca avenue, Shadyside. Covers were laid for 32. The decorations were unique and were entirely in red, white and green, crimson dahlias being the flowers used, while the dollies carried out the combination of colors which also appeared in the bon-bons, the ices and the table service. Watermelons formed one course, the guests entering into a guessing contest. The hostess provided prizes for those who guessed the correct number of seeds upon their plates, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Samuel Miller, Mrs. J. F. Semmelrock, Mrs. J. W. Worrel and Mrs. James McKelvy.

Officers Are Re-Elected.

All the officers of the California Tourists' club were re-elected yesterday at the annual meeting and picnic held at "Lawnva," the summer home of Dr. W. R. Stephens, in the Saltsburg road, near Sandy Creek. The officers are: President Dr. Stephens; vice presidents, Jacob Weinman and Mrs. O. C. Blachly; secretary, F. B. Tomb; treasurer, A. S. Braznell. A delightful afternoon was spent on the 10 acres surrounding the home of Dr. Stephens, quoits, football and reminiscences of their California tours being the diversions of the guests. After the election and supper a display of fireworks was given.

Last Flower Day in Allegheny.

The last flower day in the Allegheny summer playgrounds and vacation schools this season will be observed today, as the playgrounds and schools will close Tuesday, August 8. Yesterday exhibitions of the work of the children this summer were conducted in the Chestnut street, Third ward school, and in the East street, Tenth ward school. Today the annual exhibition of the work of the pupils in the playground and vacation school in Spring Garden avenue, Seventh ward, will be the only one held.

SPECIAL STOCKS STRONG IN A DULL MARKET

Southern Railway Common and Reading Score Large Gains—Coal Stocks Relapsed Into Dullness on the Pittsburgh Exchange.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The feature of the New York stock market yesterday was the dullness of the general list and the activity and strength of a few specialties. Some of the latter scored handsome gains, and their strength helped to sustain the rest of the market, which averaged higher at the close. The dealings again fell off for the third consecutive day, and there was no indication that the public was increasing its interest.

Southern Railway common was the most active and strongest of the low-priced railroad stocks and on large transactions advanced to and closed at 35⅝, a net gain of 1¼ per cent. The basis for this rise was disclosed late in the day in the publication of net earnings for the fiscal year, which showed an increase of more than a million dollars over the previous year. The buying of the stock, however, was regarded as entirely professional. At all events, there was no corresponding strength of activity displayed by the preferred stock, on which the directors declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. When the full details of the annual report are made public it may be possible to discover whether any change of policy has taken place which would put the common stock in sight of a dividend. For the fiscal year ended June, 1904, the percentage of operating expenses to earnings was 73.41 per cent, the highest for the year since the reorganization of the road. A reduction of operating cost would permit of a more favorable view of the position of the common stock. Louisville & Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line were also strong and higher.

Reading was taken in hand during the afternoon by the old bull pool in the stock and advanced to 106¾, the close showing a gain of 2 per cent. Baltimore & Ohio and Erie each closed ⅝ higher and Pennsylvania ⅜ higher, while Norfolk & Western remained unchanged. Union Pacific and St. Paul advanced in the late dealings and each closed ¾ higher. The remainder of the railroad list was steady to firm. The tractions became active late in the day and closed ⅝ higher for Metropolitan and 1⅜ higher for Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

American Smelting common was again the strongest of the industrials, advancing to and closing at 126½, a new high mark. National Lead closed ½ higher. The range on Amalgamated Copper was only ⅜ per cent for the day, and it closed at a net decline of ⅛.

United States Steel stocks were moderately active and closed slightly higher. The strongest member of the minor iron and steel stocks was Pressed Steel Car common, which advanced to and closed at 44⅝, a net gain of 1⅜ per cent.

Notwithstanding heavy payments on account of the second installment of the Japanese war loan, the money market was easier, call loans standing at 2 per cent most of the day, and closing at 1¾@2 per cent.

Commodity markets were quieter than for some days past. Wheat closed unchanged to ¼ lower, while September corn closed 1⅛c higher. The cotton market seemed to have discounted the government report, which showed an average condition of the crop of 74.9, a decrease of 2.1 per cent for the month. This condition is 16.7 per cent below last year and is 7.7 per cent below the 10-year average at this season.

The local stock market was less active yesterday within a narrow range of fluctuations. Low-priced mining stocks again became prominent in the dealings, which helped to swell the total sales, but reduced the money value of the transactions. Sales of Pittsburgh Coal preferred were only 160 shares at 54½ to 54⅝, the close showing a loss of ½ per cent. There were no transactions in the common stock, which closed at 14½ bid. Sales of River Coal preferred amounted to only 110 shares at 26, an advance of ½ point. The only prominent stock that was active was Philadelphia Company, which sold to the extent of 1,160 shares at 46½ to 46⅞, the close being at the best price of the day. Ohio Fuel Supply rallied to and closed at 42¾, and Manufacturers Light & Heat advanced to 36⅝. Independent Brewing common reacted to 17, but the preferred was firm at 41 and the bonds at 107. Pittsburgh Brewing common was fairly active at 26⅞ to 27, but there were no dealings in the preferred stock or bonds. United Copper was active at 33⅜ to 33½, but the stock closed offered at 32¾. Crucible Steel common sold at 11 to 11⅛ and the preferred at 63½ to 63⅝. Union Switch & Signal sold at 86½ to 87, closing at 86¾ asked. There were no sales of Air Brake or Electric. Tonopah Extension rallied to $5.65, while Ohio Tonopah declined to 31 cents. The rest of the market was dull and featureless.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $3,000,000 over the same day last year.

Stock market less active within a narrow range of fluctuations.

Philadelphia Company active and firm and gas stocks advanced.

IN WALL STREET

Sales included 489,300 shares stock and $2,944,000 bonds.

Southern Railway and Reading the strongest of the railroads.

Smelting made a new high record and National Lead advanced.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There was a complete subsidence of the activity in Pittsburgh Coal stocks, both here and in New York, and the fluctuations were narrower than for days past. Local traders look for a dull and sagging market, until evidence appears of a decided improvement in the industrious trade, with the possibility, however, of Wall street taking an occasional whirl in the stock. According to street gossip, the floating supply of the stock is not large, and for this reason bearishly inclined traders are cautious about selling short. There is some curiosity as to where the stock is being carried, since there is no selling pressure. It is known that a considerable amount was taken by foreign holders early last spring, and there is considerable interest felt as to what these foreign holders will do now that the dividend has been suspended.

Dealings in Philadelphia Company common were smaller than on the two previous days, but it was still the most active stock of the regular list. Comment was made upon the fact that since the rise in the stock United Gas Improvement had advanced in the Philadelphia market.

The rapid advance in Union Switch and Signal brought some selling orders to take profits, and the stock closed a fraction lower at 86¾. Westinghouse Electric was offered at 84, but no stock changed hands.

Dealings in Oriental and Masbate Mining reached 4,000 shares at 50 cents, and that price was bid for more. Golden Anchor was offered at 38 cents. Tonopah Extension advanced to $5.65, while United Copper, after selling at 33½, closed offered at 32¾.

Independent Brewing common reacted to 17 on sales of 250 shares. The preferred was firm at 41 bid, and the bonds sold at 107, unchanged from the last previous sale. Pittsburgh Brewing common was fairly active at 26⅞ to 27, but there were no dealings in the other issues.

Robert C. Hall and Morris, Brown & Co. were the largest buyers of Tonopah Extension on the advance. This is regarded as inside buying. Robinson Brothers and Carothers & Co. were the largest sellers.

It was reported yesterday that the Greene gold mines had closed down and the working forces discharged on July 31. This is the property concerning which many conflicting reports have been in circulation during the past two months.

The Anchor Savings bank of Pittsburgh has sent out checks for the usual quarterly dividend of 4 per cent.

F. H. Richard, cashier of the First National bank, left yesterday for New York. He will sail on the St. Paul on Saturday for Europe, to be gone four or five weeks.

Directors of the American Tobacco Company have declared a dividend of 2½ per cent on the common stock, payable September 1.

Wall street hears that the earnings of United States Steel in July approximated $11,000,000.

The June statement of the Pennsylvania railroad shows an increase in gross and expenses by every road reporting and a decrease in net by every road. The aggregate net loss for the month was not large, but in view of the large traffic it was disappointing.

The June statement of Chesapeake & Ohio made an extremely good showing, gross increasing $168,839, or 6.2 per cent, and net increasing $105,753, or 17.4 per cent, as compared with June, 1904. The increase of $89,970 in net earnings for the year is equal to 1.38 per cent on the $65,538,500 outstanding capital stock, so that by adding this increased amount to the 2.37 per cent earned on the stock in the year 1904, the total indicated earnings on the stock in 1904-5, assuming that there is no additional fixed charges, is about 3.95 per cent.

Bulls on the wheat market are laying much stress upon the report of crop conditions in Russia, which are said to be very unfavorable. Russia is a large exporter, and if her exportable surplus is reduced there would be a large demand for American wheat.

That New York bankers generally do not look for much higher time money during the rest of the year is evident from the freedom with which local banks and trust companies are placing loans at 4 per cent to feature early in 1906. One reason is that the increase in national bank circulation, which is quite well distributed, is expected to be of material assistance in moving the crops. The increase in circulation of national banks during the 12 months ending with July was $52,764,507; the increase in circulation by the New York banks, as shown by last Saturday's bank statement, was a little less than $20,000,000. The balance of $45,000,000 is divided among banks outside of New York City.

Money in circulation in the United States on August 1 compares as follows:

	Aug. 1, 1905.	Aug. 1, 1904.
Gold coin	$656,016,580	$644,152,580
Gold certificates	432,427,879	460,884,129

Total	$2,604,302,397	$2,586,573,568

Circulation increased during July $8,145,830 and for the 12 months ended July 31 it increased $55,312,726, of which over $54,000,000 is national bank notes. Circulation per capita on August 1 was $33.13 against $31.06 on August 1, 1904; $29.55 in 1903; $25.53 in 1902; $25.10 in 1901, and $26.78 in 1900.

The Daily Bond Buyer reports the total sales of municipal bonds during July at $11,669,541, an amount much smaller than any previous July since 1900, and far below the monthly average of 1905. There was an unusually large number of issues offered and either not sold or regarding which the paper was unable to obtain reports from officials.

Sales of Tonopah Home were reported at 10 cents. There is a revival of interest in this stock.

NORTH SIDE SALE BRINGS $27,000

F. S. Kay Sells the Old O'Hara Homestead in Stockton Avenue.

EAST END DEAL OF $63,000

Frederic G. Kay has sold for the heirs of James O'Hara 210 Stockton avenue, Allegheny, for about $27,000. The deal, which is the first sale in Stockton avenue for several months, is significant at this time owing to the new importance of that street because of the Pennsylvania railroad improvements and the proposed enlarging of the park on the east side of Federal street. The O'Hara property is one of the old homesteads of that vicinity and measures 80x240 feet, extending back to Park way. The residence is a three-story brick house containing 16 rooms, which is rented for about $1,500 a year. Two doors west of the O'Hara property is the Concordia club, and on the east is the Young Women's home. It will be remembered that last year a local real estate broker tried to get options on these lots and the Felix Brunot mansion at the corner, which would have afforded, with two small lots in the rear in Union avenue, 420x240 feet. This site was said to be wanted for a hotel, but the deal fell through. The present buyer is unknown, but it was rumored yesterday that the same scheme is being revived, and yesterday's purchase may be followed by others in the near vicinity. The O'Hara lot brought $900 a front foot, which is considered reasonable in view of the improvements that are promised. The last sale in Stockton avenue was the Charles property, 35x240 feet, at the northwest corner of Stockton avenue and East Diamond street, which was bought by R. H. Boggs for $24,500, or $700 a front foot, the buyer paying the commission. While the Charles lot has a frontage along East Diamond street, this advantage is partly offset by the fact that it is directly opposite the Allegheny General hospital, and for that reason could not be used for certain purposes.

A deal of considerable size was started and closed between noon and 6 p. m. yesterday. By this deal, handled by John B. Fitzgibbon of the Real Estate Corporation, John Goettmann sells his property in Penn avenue, head of Eighteenth street, to James H. Aiken for $137,500. The property is 81 by 100 feet, and is improved with four modern warehouses. The seller takes in part payment the residence property owned by Mr. Aiken at North avenue and Poplar street, Allegheny, with a lot 45x135 feet.

Three East End Houses Sold.

Through the Mortgage Banking Company the Lawton Real Estate Company has acquired three fine residences on the north side of Stanton avenue, near North Negley avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $62,000, or $21,000 each. The houses belonged to John I. Shaw, who bought them, and were built about three years ago. They are 12-room, semi-detached, pressed brick residences on lots 50x167 feet each, and are finished in hardwood and have two tile bathrooms. The owners have been offered $100 a month rent for one of the houses, but prefer to let them stand vacant in order that occupancy may not hinder a good sale.

It develops that Maurice Arnfeld, the clothier, was the buyer of the Patterson holdings at 1220-1224 Penn avenue, the sale of which through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company was published in The Gazette last month. The exact price was $80,000, which figures at the rate of $1,250 a front foot, as the lot is 48x100 feet, extending back to Spring alley. The site is practically vacant, as the old buildings are of little account and have no renting value. The former owners were Mrs. and Thomas H. Patterson of New York and Philadelphia, who have held the property for a long time. Mr. Arnfeld, it is said, will improve the lot this fall with a four or six-story building to cost about $40,000.

Speculative Builders Are Happy.

These are happy days for speculative builders—if they happen to have houses to sell. Some of them haven't and are hunting the city over for frontage that can be improved to good advantage. For the first time in three years George H. Stickler is "sold out." His large stock of Belmar houses, Allegheny dwellings, West Park homes and Swissvale residences is exhausted. His last sale was of a Swissvale house which had been sold once, but he had to take it back because of non-payment of the installments. He advertised the house on Sunday and by 9 o'clock Monday morning had it sold. Mr. Stickler now has a good deal on for a large plot of frontage in the East End district, which he expects to improve at once if he gets it. John F. Sweeny has sold over one-half of the 40 houses he is building on Mt. Washington, and is also looking about for a new field of operations. Both these men have made a specialty of building moderate-priced homes to be sold on easy payments with an initial cash deposit of perhaps $100, and their rapid sales this year tell very plainly of the prosperity of the better class of working people. Houses that can be sold on easy terms for from $2,000 to $4,000 are going this summer at a faster rate than since 1901, and better results are reported so far as paying for them are concerned. The few owners who have any number of such dwellings to sell are rapidly closing them out, and say the returns from their advertising are remarkable for this season. There is an exceptionally good prospect for a large number of such houses to be erected this fall, both in the city wards and in the suburbs.

Gain of Over 40 Per Cent.

Pittsburgh made a good showing in building in July, as evidenced by the report of Building Inspector A. C. Diez, which appeared yesterday. The total cost of the buildings authorized during the month was $1,368,794. In July, 1904, there were granted permits calling for an estimated expenditure of $906,200, so that last month made a gain of over $400,000, or about 40 per cent. Allegheny more than doubled her building total last year, so that building operations in this district may be considered in very good shape. In Pittsburgh there were granted 274 permits for new buildings to cost $1,245,040; 50 for additions to cost $69,118; 64 for alterations to cost $61,657.

The bureau granted the following permits yesterday: Frederick Thomas, five two-story and attic brick buildings, Freeland avenue, Thirty-first ward, to cost $10,000; Carl Bender, two-story frame, South Eighteenth street, Twenty-seventh ward, to cost $2,500; Elizabeth Flowers, block of three two-story brick veneered dwellings to cost $6,000, Flowers avenue and Mansen street, Twenty-third ward, Elizabeth Flowers, one block, five houses, brick veneered, Flowers avenue and Killbuck street, Twenty-third ward, to cost $8,000; St. Rosalia Roman Catholic church was granted a permit to build an addition to its school house at Greenfield avenue and Lydia street, to cost $950; William E. Milliken, 404 Smithfield street, Second ward, alteration to store, $700; Morris Soupcoff, 19 Miller street, Eleventh ward, alteration to box factory, $460; James Hynes, 3721 Frazier street, Fourteenth ward, two-story addition to dwelling, to cost $900.

Buys in Nineteenth Ward.

Ira D. Smith has sold to A. M. C. Hubbard an improved property, 48x48 feet, in Margaretta street, near Berlin street, Nineteenth ward, for $13,000.

Zorsh Barach has obtained title to an improved property, 33x106 feet, owned by Emily L. Albertle, on the east side of Craig street, near Center avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $11,000.

Brushton: Celia & Dennison sold for L. S. McKeever to D. J. Malady 72x125 feet on the north side of Hamilton avenue, between Lang and Homewood avenues, Twenty-first ward, for $6,840. The site is vacant and adjoins the Homewood Carnegie library.

Beltzhoover avenue: Alexander Black sold to Julius R. Davidson an improved lot, 26x100 feet, in Beltzhoover avenue, for $2,600, for Thomas H. Jones to John A. Sinss, an improved lot, 20x79 feet, in Emerald street, for $900.

Summit park: Keck, Hetle & Daschbach sold for the Summit Park Land Company to Miss Anna Baer 100x200 feet in Library avenue, Summit park, for $750.

Belmar place: Conrad Beh sold to Joseph H. Williams an improved lot, 25x93 feet, at Kedron and Homewood avenues, Twenty-first ward, for $4,000.

Thirty-eighth street: Mary E. Leahy sold to Harry H. Ryan an improved lot, 20x70 feet, in Thirty-eighth street, Sixteenth ward, for $2,000.

Scattering Real Estate Deals.

Mathilda street: J. T. Barr sold to Timothy J. Hicker 212x110 feet at the southeast corner of Mathilda and Rosetta streets, Nineteenth ward, for $6,000.

Rosetta street: Edward V. Neuhart sold to J. R. Evans an improved lot, 22x100 feet, in Rosetta street, Nineteenth ward, for $3,350.

Excelsior street: William J. Payne sold to August Siegfried an improved lot, 22x100 feet, in Excelsior street, Thirty-first ward, for $3,250.

South Side: Frank M. Sankey sold to Sadie Charles an improved lot, 22x120 feet, on the south side of Carson street, Thirty-first ward, for $7,000.

Oakmont: The John K. Ewing Company sold for the Oakmont Improvement Company to Miss Minnie Hough 150x175 feet, in Lincoln avenue, Oakmont, for $800. The buyer will build a residence on the lot, which is in the new plan near the Oakmont golf links.

Woodland: A. Z. Byers & Co. sold for Vienna C. McCune to a local business man 55 acres near Woodland station, on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad in Beaver county, for $4,500.

Emsworth: Henry W. Armstrong sold for Melvin A. Gilbert to Robert Allen a six-room frame dwelling on 50x141 feet, at Center and Grant avenues, Emsworth, for $2,600.

COKE TRADE PROMISES GRADUAL IMPROVEMENT

Production Last Week Slightly Larger, but Shipments Fall Off—More Furnaces Fired.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., August 3.—Production of coke in the Connellsville region was slightly larger than for the previous week, but shipments fell off slightly. Variation from the previous report has been slight, and it is now believed that slow but steady gains will take place.

Repairs on a number of furnaces are completed, and when these are put into blast they will add to the production of the region. A summary for the week ended July 29 shows 22,853 ovens with 20,252 in operation. During the week 100 ovens were fired at the W. J. Rainey Revere plant. About 50 ovens were fired at other plants. The week's production is estimated at 248,779 tons, an increase of 3,389 tons. The shipments aggregated 10,987 cars, distributed as follows:

To Pittsburg and river points, 4,182 cars; to points east of Everson, 1,221 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 5,514 cars. The shipments amounted to 254,518 tons, a decrease of 2,843 tons from the previous week. About 6,000 more tons were shipped than were produced. The shipments from the Masontown field aggregated 2,278 cars, distributed: Pittsburgh and river points, 999 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 1,238 cars; points east of Everson, 121 cars. These shipments are estimated at 53,504 tons, a decrease of 986 tons. The total number of tons shipped from both Masontown and Connellsville regions is 318,022.

VEGETARIANS KEEP THE MERCHANTS BUSY

Heavy Decrease in Cattle Sales in Hot Weather Owing to the Purchases of Produce.

Although business was as good as it has been for the past two months in the local market yesterday, there was no particular feature of the trade worthy of special mention. Everybody was busy, but there were not many changes in quotations. Those which were made mostly in the direction of cheaper prices. The summer figures on almost all kinds of goods now prevail and the cost of living has been materially reduced thereby.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the local markets is the falling off in the butchers' trade. The sales of cattle have materially decreased at the Union stock yards as tables are being filled with the products of the farm. The low prices of first-class fruit and vegetables has resulted in many persons accustoming themselves to a vegetable diet during the hot months. Not only is there a financial benefit but the benefit to health is great and the Liberty dealers are well pleased that Pittsburghers have learned of the value of non-heat producing foods during the warm weather.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 26 cars oats, 7 cars hay, 8 cars corn, 4 cars straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars oats, 1 car hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars oats, 2 cars hay, 1 car rye.

The market continues in about the same condition it has been in all week. Choice hay is strong. Oats and straw are dull. The movement of new oats has caused a heavy slump in prices all over the country, while the straw now on hand from last year is being hurried out to make way for the new crop. Millfeed continues dull and there is little life in any line except hay.

Light Wells Continue the Rule, Old Districts Have Nothing New

Light wells continue the rule in the lower southwest fields. None of the old districts are presenting any new features. In some few there is considerable activity with the promise of getting producers of sufficient productiveness to stay the decline of the old wells. At the present time there is not a district in the lower southwest that is holding up in production. In a few instances shooting the old wells brings a temporary stop to a decline in production, but it is for a brief time only. As a rule the wells are down to their normal production.

In McElroy district, Tyler county, Hoopengunner & Co. have drilled their test on the Orr heirs' farm through the Big Injun sand and have a show for a 6-barrel pumper. This test is located in advance of developments on McElroy creek. For some time there has been something of an effort making along the dividing line between Doddridge and Tyler counties to open a big Injun pool. It is probable that although small producers can be found to be an incentive for starting more test work in that locality.

In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has now drilled its test on the O. S. Ritter farm through the fourth sand and found nothing in that formation. The hole has filled up 2,700 feet with fluid from the Gordon. In the same district, the South Penn has drilled its second test on the M. A. Barker farm through the fifth sand, and has developed a fair gas pressure. Drilling has been suspended for the present. In the Salem district, in the same county, the South Penn company has completed its No. 4 on the W. C. Johnson farm, and has a 20-barrel pumper in the Gordon. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn company has drilled No. 12 on the H. L. Smith farm 12 feet into the fourth sand, and found developed a very light show of oil. In the Fallen Timber Run district, same county, the Parker & Edwards Oil Company's No. 1 on the D. B. Fox farm is holding up very regularly at 90 barrels a day. In the same district, J. T. Miller & Co. have put their test on the Levi Shuman farm to pumping from the Gordon, and have a 25-barrel producer.

In the Big Injun development, near Wick, Tyler county, some of the old producers are holding up creditably. The wells producing 5 or more barrels a day are as follows: Carter Oil Company No. 3 and 4 H. C. Wamsley, 5 and 10 barrels, respectively; Carter Oil Company No. 2, W. O. Shuttleworth, No. 3 Charles Eberhart, 6, 10 respectively, and No. 1 Matthias Menear 15 barrels. The Metrose Oil and Gas Company's No. 12 on the T. H. Ewell farm is producing 8 barrels a day. This is a better average than the same company has of wells in any other old district now producing.

In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company is due to the east at an important test on the P. Woodfield farm. In the same district, the same company is down 2,900 feet at No. 3 on the R. A. Cavaller farm. Near the Doddridge-Ritchie line, the Carter Oil Company is due in the Big Injun at a test on the F. M. Tuttle farm. In the same district, in Doddridge county, the Pittsburg Oil Company is drilling a test on the D. M. Bangle farm. In the Roods creek district, Ritchie county, the Consolidated Oil Company is due in the Big Injun at its test on the Wayne Smith. In the same district, Mallory Bros. & Stewart are due to the Keener at No. 4 on Wyman Simonton farm. In Butler district, Wayne county, the Twelve Pole Oil and Gas Company is drilling a test on the D. W. Pollard farm. On the Kendall tract in Kanawha county, A. E. Praughner is down 1,500 feet at a test on the Williams tract.

On the Ohio side, in the Lowlesville district, in Monroe county, Longfellow & Co. have completed a test on the Louis Hehr farm, and have a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Keener sand.

AMERICAN ROADS ARE FAR AHEAD

Division Freight Agent Seymour Gives Talk on Foreign Railway Methods.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC IS HEAVY

Samuel L. Seymour, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, who returned from a trip abroad early this week, thinks that, all things considered, the American railroads are so far ahead of the roads in Europe that comparisons are odious. At least, such is his impression of the foreign railroads as he gleaned facts in a casual way in traveling over the principal roads of Germany and England. The freight and passenger station facilities and the safety precautions are the principal features of interest in which the foreign roads approach, and in some cases excel, American methods and roads.

"In the first place," said Mr. Seymour, in speaking of the traffic side of the foreign roads, "the tonnage handled is so small in comparison with the vast amount of freight hauled on American roads that it is little wonder no better facilities have been provided for the goods in transit. The cars are small; so are the engines. The station facilities in most instances are far ahead of ours. There is plenty of room for handling the freight. The methods and rates are something terrible, however. I had a valise about the size of a suit case that I wanted to have sent from Carlsbad to London. Upon inquiry I found that slow freight would require 21 days for the trip. Fast freight would take it in seven days, so I sent it by fast freight, but I paid $4 for that privilege. In America I could have sent it by express from New York to San Francisco for $1.50.

"When one speaks of the passenger facilities he must do so with pride in our own. The cars are small and uncomfortable; they jolt along, not being heavy enough or provided with the right kind of trucks to carry them smoothly. There are more passenger cars than freight; that is, the passenger business is the main thing. The sleeping cars—well, perhaps the less said about them the better. They are as jolting as the passenger cars, and it is impossible for one not accustomed to sleeping in them to get a wink of sleep. I should much prefer to make all trips by daylight in traveling on foreign railroads. The passenger station facilities, as is well known, are models of convenience, while safety is the watchword at the stations and along the railway lines.

"The one thing that impressed me was the lack of improvement or the incentive for it on the German railways. These lines are owned by the government, and, of course, there is no competition; consequently there is no improving done unless it is absolutely necessary. While the roads are kept in pretty good condition, there are many improvements urgently needed."

Days of Big Excursions.

There will be conducted today possibly the largest single excursion ever run for one event. Eighteen trains, requiring 153 cars, will be run by the Pennsylvania lines for the United Presbyterian day outing at Rock Point, while the Baltimore & Ohio will run four trains for the occasion, and other roads will also join in moving the people to the new park. The excursion covers all points of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. The Rev. C. H. Marshall of Buena Vista, is in charge of the outing.

The Baltimore & Ohio had a heavy excursion business, handling at least 1,000 persons in the Atlantic City excursion in seven trains, and also hauling 1,500 persons from Butler county for the annual picnic at Cascade park, New Castle.

The eighth annual United Presbyterian reunion, which will be another big event, will be held at Exposition park, Conneaut lake, August 17, when it is probable that 125,000 persons will be hauled by the railroads.

Pennsylvania's Freight Traffic.

"We handled 6,600 cars over the crest of the Alleghenies yesterday on the Pittsburgh division," remarked Superintendent S. C. Long of this division of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday. "That is doing some business in the freight line. Five thousand cars is a big movement any day. We are bettering that almost every day now, recently having had 5,400 cars moved across the mountain. The freight is moving in fine shape, and there appears to be no let-up coming in the amount of traffic. Yesterday's movement required 91 trains eastbound and 71 westbound, making the freight operations alone amount to 162 trains."

B. & O. Bridge Work Progressing.

C. P. H. Harrison of the construction firm of T. A. Shoemaker & Co., who went east last evening to look after the starting of work on the Baltimore & Ohio's new main line, says that the masonry work on the Baltimore & Ohio bridge at Wheeling Junction will be completed in about a week, with the exception of a small portion of retaining wall that will be finished later. The Duquesne Construction Company will begin at once on the superstructure work of the river span, above span and approach. Steel girders will be used. Mr. Harrison will assume personal charge of the extensive construction work in connection with the contract for building about six miles of new main line for the Baltimore & Ohio on the Baltimore division.

May Need Many Licenses.

The right of railroads which operate buffet and dining cars to sell intoxicants without having a license for every county through which they pass is to be tested in the courts. In a recent case at Bloomington, Ind., a Monon route porter was fined for selling a bottle of beer to a passenger while the train was going through Monroe county. The fine was paid by the railroad company. This has started a movement to enforce the law against all companies. It is said that legal opinion is agreed that such sales are illegal, and that the roads cannot claim exemption under the interstate commerce law. The licenses are usually attended to by the superintendents of dining car service of the roads.

Magee Honored by Associates.

Executive and operating officers who have been associated with Henry L. Magee, who resigned as general superintendent of the Wabash railroad August 1 after 20 years of service, honored Mr. Magee by giving a dinner for him and presenting him with a diamond stud. C. B. Adams, superintendent of transportation, was master of ceremonies. Among the speakers were E. B. Fryor, assistant to the president, and Stephen E. Cotter, the new general superintendent. Operating men from all over the Wabash system were present, while there were also a number of traffic men. Mr. Magee left with his family for California, occupying a private car tendered him by the Wabash management.

Railroad Notes.

The annual outing of the Union Switch and Signal company will be held Saturday at Rock Point.

Charles Hall, assistant general freight agent of the Frisco at St. Louis, was here conferring with General Agent O. M. Ellsworth.

Andrew Hook, clerk in Yardmaster Donahue's office at the Union station terminal, has returned to duty after a pleasant vacation in the east.

The Panhandle management is installing six new interlocking plants on the Indianapolis division in connection with the opening of second track endings and on lap sidings.

The Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the fiscal year shows gross earnings, $8,377,080; expenses, $4,995,315, and net earnings, $3,377,771. The gross earnings increased $417,418 over the previous year.

Capt. W. A. Pratt of the Baltimore & Ohio passenger conductors' force, has returned with his wife from a delightful trip to the Pacific coast, having visited his son in Washington and the exposition at Portland.

Coal and coke shipments on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ended July 29 amounted to 804,387 tons, there being 653,242 tons of bituminous coal, 209,221 tons of coke and 61,924 tons of anthracite.

Col. James D. Welsh, general agent of the Union Pacific at Cincinnati for many years, and well known among traffic men throughout the country, died last week. He retired because of ill health a couple of years ago.

The Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad's statement for the fiscal year ended June 30 shows $4,256,694 of gross earnings, $3,839,135 of expenses and taxes and $207,469 of net earnings. The gross earnings increased $261,322 over the previous year.

H. Fernstrom has resigned as chief engineer of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad. The department has been reorganized, with W. H. Knowlton and C. J. Parker as principal assistant engineers, reporting to the vice president in charge of the department.

The Greensburg merchants' annual picnic was held at Idlewild park yesterday. Three special trains of ten coaches each were run over the Pennsylvania and Ligonier Valley roads, and about 4,000 people enjoyed the outing. There was a good program of sports.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of W. P. Stimson as assistant general manager of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway, a part of the Pennsylvania system; J. W. Hunter as superintendent of the Northern division, succeeding Mr. Stimson, and E. H. Hudson as superintendent of the Southern division, succeeding Mr. Hunter. Mr. Hudson was engineer maintenance of way.

May Build Road Jointly.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—In the house of commons today Earl Percy said Great Britain is negotiating with France jointly to build the proposed railroad through the Yangtse valley in China.

LONG SENTENCE FOR BLUEBEARD

He May Get Forty-Eight Years Without Trial on the Murder Charges.

TETANUS POISONER'S OUTLOOK

Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.

That he has charges enough framed against Frederick E. Carlton, the "bluebeard" of Brooklyn, to bring to him a cumulative sentence of 48 years and fines of $1,500 was the statement made today by Police Inspector Cross, who has been digging up the record of crimes the man is alleged to have committed in his strenuous career.

The inspector said that, aside from the possible chance of convicting Carlton of the murder of one of his wives, Mary Gorman Carlton, by inoculating her with tetanus germs, he has substantial evidence to convict on three charges of bigamy, for which he can get five years in each instance; three charges of uttering indecent photographs, for which he can get three years and be fined $1,500; one charge of robbery, for which he can be sentenced to 20 years imprisonment, and one charge of grand larceny, for which he may be sent away for ten years.

The plan now is to keep the alleged "Bluebeard" in jail until next month, meanwhile getting the indictments against him which can be prosecuted in rapid fire order. District Attorney Clark is only waiting the bacteriological report of Chemist C. Percy O'Connor to decide whether or not there is a chance of pressing a murder charge. This report will not be ready for several days.

CHINESE LAUNDRYMAN WINS AN AMERICAN BRIDE

Charley Ging, When Oath Is Finally Made Clear to Him, Weds Sunday School Teacher.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—An American girl was married to a Chinaman in this city today. The ceremony was performed by Magistrate Beaton in his office at Broad and Callowhill streets. The bride was Miss Bessie Arnold of 613 Eutaw street, Baltimore, and the bridegroom was Charles Ging, a laundryman, who has been living at 914 Race street.

The marriage of Miss Arnold and Ging was the culmination of a courtship begun over a year ago in Baltimore. They met in a Sunday school where the bride was a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ging had some difficulty in getting a marriage license from Clerk Gobel, because Ging didn't seem to know what "an oath" was. He was made to understand after considerable explanation. This was the only hitch to the wedding, and at 2 o'clock the couple stepped on a train at Broad Street Station and started for Baltimore. It is said that the parents of Miss Arnold objected to her marriage to Ging.

ATTACK MERCHANT SHIP.

Russian Destroyers Kill the Vessel's Captain and a Boy, Then Return to Vladivostok.

TOKYO, Aug. 3.—It is officially reported that two Russian torpedo boat destroyers appeared off Chung Ching, on the northern coast of Korea, this morning and attacked the Keisho, a small merchant steamer, killing the captain and one boy and wounding two of the crew. The destroyers then steamed toward Vladivostok, while the Keisho was able to continue her voyage and escaped.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Dispatches from Tokyo give confirmatory evidence from the Japanese correspondents of the great strength of the Russian forces and their continual reinforcement, especially in Northern Korea, where their strength is estimated at 22,000.

BOTH SIDES SEE VICTORY.

Railroad Officials and Telegraphers Each Claim They Have Won Pacific Strikes.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 3.—The second day of the telegraphers' strike on the lines of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railways ends with the railroad officers tonight asserting that the strike has already been broken and the officers of the Telegraphers' union declaring that the strike has only begun.

The railroads have been able to keep the more important trains near to the schedules. Through trains from the coast arrived in St. Paul today on time. Rumors of a sympathetic strike of the trainmen have been in circulation, and although conferences have been held with this plan in view, it is declared tonight that such a movement is not impending.

WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY AFTER RUSSIAN CONTRACT

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 3.—The newspapers state that a $15,000,000 contract for the equipment of 14 St. Petersburg street car lines with electricity will be awarded shortly. Aside from German, French and Belgian capitalists, an American firm, the Westinghouse company, is competing for the concession.

Stewart Leaves Nice Estate.

The will of A. M. Stewart, the Pittsburgh business man who committed suicide by strangling and drowning near Washington, Pa., on Tuesday, was filed for probate in the Washington courts today. Stewart left an estate valued at $40,000 and half as much in life insurance policies to his mother, Mrs. Susan Stewart of Canonsburg, and his brothers and sisters.

Called to Nebraska Church.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Aug. 3.—The Rev. L. B. Fasick of Scottdale, pastor of the Fayette United Brethren church, has received a call to the First church of Shelby City, Neb. Mr. Fasick will complete the present conference year, which closes September 20, in his present charge and may go to the Nebraska pulpit in October.

Unknown Man Assaults Child.

Residents of the Ninth ward, McKeesport, are looking for an unknown man who assaulted Cedar Fry, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fry of Banker avenue, yesterday. With another little girl the Fry girl was picking berries when she was assaulted. The man made his escape and the Fry girl was assisted home.

Conger Returning Home.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3.—American Ambassador Conger and family tonight left for the United States, the ambassador having two months' leave of absence. He will go to Washington.

YOU!

Are the man that we are pointing at and beckoning on to our fourth floor tomorrow. You are the man that we know we can please and make your well earned dollars go farther in clothing buying than ever before. We trust, for your own best interest, to see your face here tomorrow.

Store Remains Open Until 6:30 P. M. Saturday

SOLOMON'S

K. Solomon & Company, Smithfield and Diamond Sts.

AUGUST CLEARANCE ENTIRE CLOTHING STOCK

Are the man that this great clearance sale appeals to. You can save from ⅓ to a ½ regular price; it's surely up to you to purchase. You are the man that we want to use as a waiting advertisement, to be made so by a satisfactory purchase and half the money that you intended to spend for a new suit still in your "jeans."

NOW that Inventory is over we know exactly where we stand and there is several thousand dollars' worth of men's summer clothing that we can afford to let go at practically whatever we can get for them. We must confess that we somewhat reluctantly resorted to a clearance sale when so many stores are merely plowing over their old stock and tagging the weeds with August clearance cards—two prices where there was but one before—paper sales pure and simple. We are not like a hen that lays an egg and runs off and cackles. We have HATCHED OUT a bona-fide clearance sale. This is not a helter-skelter effort to put wind in our profit-making sales, for we have chosen only such clothing as we would willingly offer regularly to our customers. No tricks, no shams, no discount sales, no strings tied to our offers, but everything straightforward and above-board.

In this limited space we cannot even give you a pen and ink picture of the vast quantities, the special displays, the many styles or the reduced prices. We could be very sensational in the exploitation of this news, but we prefer to tell it to you in a plain, straightforward way. We cannot quote any particular prices, for in many instances the lots are too small to embrace under any certain price, so sum it all up in this one statement:

25 TO 50% TO BE SAVED NOW ON ALL SUMMER CLOTHES

Another "Word Hunt" Next Sunday.

$50.00 IN PRIZES

For Four Words Selected From

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAZETTE

Rules and Conditions of the "Word Hunt."

In selecting such words you are privileged to use each letter of the alphabet four times, but no more.

Each letter of the alphabet has a value in points, according to its location in the alphabet. For example, A is one point; B, two points, C, three points, etc. This would make the letter Z count twenty-six points.

The persons selecting the four words aggregating the greatest number of points (on the basis described above) will receive the prizes. We give below examples to demonstrate the difference in value of words. Take the word "Furniture."

6—21—18—14—9—20—21—18—5
F—U—R—N—I—T—U—R—E

It contains nine letters and represents 132 points, whereas, you take the word "Handkerchief."

8—1—14—4—11—5—18—3—8—9—6—6
H—A—N—D—K—E—R—C—H—I—E—F

Answers must give the words selected, explain from what ad. they were taken and where the ad. is located in the paper. This is necessary to properly check the answers.

LIST OF CASH PRIZES

First Prize	$15.00
Second "	10.00
Two Prizes $5.00 each	10.00
Four Prizes $2.50 each	10.00
Five Prizes $1.00 each	5.00
13 Prizes	$50.00

After each word must be given the number of points it represents; at the bottom of the sheet the total of the points represented in the four words. Sign your name and address plainly.

Should two or more contestants be tied for certain prizes, such prizes will be distributed pro rata among such contestants.

Every person is eligible to enter the Hunt except employes of The Pittsburgh Gazette and members of their families.

No contestant will be awarded more than one prize.

All answers must be in The Gazette office by 9:00 a. m. of the following Thursday.

Answers must be addressed to Manager "Word Hunt," The Gazette, Pittsburgh, Pa., and either sent by mail or delivered in person at our Business Office.

Any answer which does not comply strictly to the foregoing rules will not be considered.

Any points not covered in the above rules will be decided in an equitable manner by the Sunday Editor of The Gazette and the Manager of this contest.

(Copyrighted, 1905, by I. F. Bailey, Pittsburgh, Pa.)

NOTICE—The Manager of the Hunt reserves the right to make any changes in the rules that he may deem necessary for properly conducting the contest. Be sure to read the rules next Sunday.

No Person Knows the Answer. It's Up to You.
